WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE BILL DEFEATED

REJECTED IN COMMONS BY MAJORITY OF 14

Nationalists Voted Against Measure, Fearing Delay of Home Rule

London, March 29.—By a majority of 14, the vote standing at 208 for the bill and 222 against it, the conciliation or women's suffrage bill was defeated on the motion for its second reading in the House of Commons last evening. The bill if passed into law would have given the parliamentary suffrage to about one million women.

The announcement of the result was received with deafening cheering.

Last year a similar bill passed the second reading stage by a vote of 256 to 88, and was referred to a committee of the whole House, making no further progress. The reversal in the views of the members is attributed to the recent window-smashing tactics of the militant suffragettes.

The bill is a privilege measure not backed by the government and in recording their votes the members were not restrained by party considerations.

The debate presented the novel spectacle of members of the cabinet taking opposite sides. The prime minister strongly opposed the bill on the ground that there was no evidence that it was desired by a majority of the men or women in the country and in his opinion the proposed change would be injurious to the best interests of women and fraught with the gravest consequences to future good government.

Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, on the other hand, gave it as his opinion that the enfranchisement of women would neither injure the state nor the House, but would benefit both, as had been proved in all countries where it had been tried.

The parliamentary correspondent of the Times, dealing with the rejection of the bill, says: "This was due to the pre-arranged vote of the Irish Nationalists, 47 of whom voted against the bill and none in favor of it. The correspondents adds: "The Nationalist party do not want the time of the House taken from the Home Rule bill."

The Nationalists have also been afraid that if a women's suffrage measure were carried further grave complications might ensue in the cabinet and that at least one stalwart Home Ruler might resign his office.

Although Miss Christabel Pankhurst is still baffling the efforts of the police to discover her whereabouts, she is still in close touch with her fellow-members of the Women's Social and Political Union. At a big demonstration held in Albert Hall last night while parliament was debating, a letter from Miss Pankhurst was read and was greeted with enthusiastic cheers. The writer says:

"We defy the government and their stupid, brutal attempts to wear out the spirit of our resistance and stamp out by repression woman's demands for political freedom. They will tear the stars from the sky before they will break the spirit of the women of this country."

"What we are fighting for? Not for sympathy, not for facilities, not for so-called principles. We are fighting for the vote, and nothing less than the vote. Therefore, until a measure giving equal voting rights to women is actually on the statute book we, as self-respecting women can not, and will not, be at peace with the government."

"My final word is: 'Be of good cheer, the fierceness of the enemy's attack is a sign of our victory, and acquit you, like women, and the day is ours.'

MISSION WORK ON PACIFIC COAST

Women's Home Missionary Society Will Raise $50,000 for Year

Toronto, March 29.—At a public meeting held in St. Andrew's church in connection with the Women's Home missionary society, Dr. Grant, superintendent of home missions, gave a stirring address, making an appeal on behalf of the loggers, miners and the men engaged in the various industries along the coast of British Columbia.

"There is now on the Pacific Coast," said Dr. Grant, "a hive of industrial activity, and we cannot afford to neglect this thronging multitude. The call to this work is insistent. Will the women of the Presbyterian church respond?"

Dr. Grant's appeal met with an enthusiastic and practical response. The Women's Home Missionary Society will undertake this work at an estimated expenditure of $50,000 for the first year, and Dr. Grenfell's mission to the deep-sea fishermen on the Labrador shore will be duplicated by one similar in nature on the western coast.

MANY DRIVEN FROM THEIR HOMES

RIVERS RISING IN MISSOURI AND NEBRASKA

Railway Bridges and Tracks Washed Away—Several Fatalities Reported

St. Louis, Mo., March 29.—With the river stage the highest for March it has been since the records have been kept in St. Louis, a general rain falling throughout the southern part of the state and a storm moving northeast from the south central states, flood conditions are likely for this city and the low lands south of here.

The Mississippi passed the 27-foot mark last night, with the water rising more than a foot in twenty-four hours, and the weather bureau to-day predicts the river will attain a depth of thirty or thirty-one feet, flood stage, before the end of the week. Many families have been forced to leave their homes because of the rise in the Missouri river.

Tributaries are flooded from their banks and these are expected to bring the Missouri to a flood stage.

The Missouri, south of Fulton, Mo., has been near the danger point all week, and a heavy rain which fell there all yesterday and last night has added to the seriousness of the situation.

Floods in Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb., March 29.—The breaking up of the ice in the Platte, Loup, Elkhorn and other rivers of Nebraska is causing some of the worst floods the state has known in many years. The property damage has already been great. A buggy in which two hunters left early in the day was soon floating down the river and it is thought the two men have been drowned.

Three boys are stranded to-day between two bridges that were washed out near Schuyler. A man is reported on an island in the river near Schuyler in great danger.

All railroads in the state are more or less crippled, bridges and tracks in many places having been washed away. The water in many places is the highest in forty years.

Bridges Destroyed.

Lincoln, Neb., March 29.—Flood conditions along the Platte river were worse to-day with the ice moving out and the rivers pronounced the highest in twenty years. Seven spans of the Burlington bridge near Columbus went out yesterday. The Rock Island bridge at South Bend which was out of commission yesterday, but which was repaired during the night, sustained damage to-day and trains are being routed over the Burlington tracks between Omaha and Lincoln. Water is running on the Union Pacific tracks between Fremont and North Bend, and traffic is hampered badly.

Several hundred feet of the Burlington track has been washed out near Olyssus. Six hundred families at Columbus were forced last night hurriedly to leave their homes by a rush of backwater which swept down the low lying districts.

Driven From Homes.

Norfolk, Neb., March 29.—Norfolk is experiencing the worst flood in 25 years, due to the sudden rise of the Norfolk river. People have been driven from their homes in the eastern part of the town and the flood is gradually encroaching on the business district.

Two Drowned.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., March 29.—James Colman and wife, living on an island in the Cedar river near here, were drowned last evening trying to escape from the high water.

Factories in Danger Zone.

Louisville, Ky., March 29.—Telephone messages from Hickman, Ky., to-day say the levee there is menaced by the Mississippi river floods. For three days people have been strengthening the levee.

While there is no danger of loss of life, all families having moved from the possible flood section, the damage to property, should the break come, would be large. Several factories are in the flood's path.

EXPLOSION CAUSES PANIC.

New York, March 29.—Four hundred students of the college of the city of New York, frightened by an explosion yesterday afternoon in the concrete room of the chemistry building, rushed to the street. A tank of hydrogen in which too much air had been permitted to enter, caused the explosion.

A huge iron door had been blown clear across the hallway and all windows of the room facing One Hundred and Forty-first street were smashed. The shock jarred the four buildings in which the students were reciting. The fact that the walls of the room were of concrete prevented damage to other parts of the building.

However, all the expensive apparatus which was in the room at the time was blown to bits.

WILL OF BISHOP HOLMES.

London, March 29.—The will of the late Bishop Holmes of Athabasca has been filed for probate by the widow. The instrument shows the bishop's personal property to be worth £850.

WILL REMAIN IN PERSIA.
Brother of Deposed Shah Refuses to Accept Pension.

Teheran, March 29.—Salar Ed. Dowleh, brother of the deposed shah, has returned a definite refusal to the Anglo-Russian communication advising him to leave Persia on a pension. He has declared himself prince under the suzerainty of the shah, of the new principality of western Persia, including the provinces of Kurdistan, Kermanshah, Luristan, Hamadan and Irak. It is stated that a Russian force will be sent to expel the new ruler from Kermanshah.

DIES FROM KICK.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 29.—Dr. J. D. Campbell, of Larimer, is dead from injuries which he received by being kicked in the neck by a fractious horse. His windpipe was severed and his throat otherwise lacerated. Dr. Campbell had resided in Larimer since 1896, coming from Toronto, Canada, he was state veterinarian.

EXECUTIONERS' RESIGN POSITIONS

MINISTERS HAVE TROUBLE WITH AXE WIELDERS

Investigators Are Hampered by Conservative Patronage Influences

Ottawa, March 29.—The Borden government is now engaged in a merry squabble with a number of its own especially appointed "executioners" of Liberal officeholders. At least three resignations have already been handed in, and others are said to be pending.

It is an amusing commentary that the trouble with the commissioners is likewise caused by the spoils. The government announced in the house that these investigators were to be paid $15 per day each and expenses, and the auditor-general is understood to have governed himself accordingly.

As a result, when Emily Gelly, of Lewis, went in a bill close on to $2,500 for the investigation and decapitation of Superintendent Dube, of the Inter-colonial railway, the account was refused as extortionate. Thereupon Mr. Gelly protested, and when he secured little satisfaction promptly tendered his resignation.

Other cases of a similar character followed, several of the disputes being most acrimonious in character, and resulting in at least two additional resignations, those of Messrs. Napoleon Garceau, of Drummondville, and L. O. Beaubien, of Quebec.

The protest of the investigating commissioners seems, however, to be widespread and is said to embrace correspondence of a most peculiar nature.

In some cases the commissioners have intimated that they were interfered with by the local Conservative patronage influences and apparently no expectation was evidenced that their duty was other than that of official executioners. In others, it is stated, successors to Liberal officials were practically notified of their appointments before the "investigation" was commenced.

OPERATORS AND MINERS MAY CONFER

Anthracite Coal Owners Willing to Receive Deputation of Workers

New York, March 29.—The statement reiterated by the operators in the anthracite region that they are ready to grant an immediate hearing to the mine workers desire to communicate with them, may result in another conference looking to a settlement of the wage scale and other questions. A suspension of work on April 1, however, was regarded to-day by operators as practically certain.

Each side asserts that the responsibility for the situation rests with the other. Coal dealers do not look for a long suspension in either the anthracite or bituminous districts and believe that its effects will not be felt in the main centres of population for at least a month.

Local labor unions are circulating the story that board fences 10 feet high and topped with strings of barbed wire are in course of construction about the collieries and grounds of every mining corporation in the anthracite district. It is the same work as preceded the six-months strike of 1902, only in this latest instance, instead of making a show of safeguarding their property, the coal companies are taking even greater precautions in that within the stockade is also being built a series of bunk and mess houses for guards and watchmen.

President Taft is said to be keeping in close touch with the situation both in the hard and soft coal regions, and the coal strike will attempt thefeat of conveying them.

"We would prefer to have a train, certainly," said the manager of the cinematograph company. "Under no circumstances would the railway company provide us with one. We offered to bring our own coal with us and stoke it ourselves on the tender, but they absolutely refused to consider the matter. Hamel hopes to get away from a place near the course soon after 2:30 p.m., and unless delayed, or an accident is met with, he expects to reach London before 7 o'clock.

The railways refused to convey the aeroplane to Liverpool, but this difficulty was overcome by the use of a motor truck which will go by road."

Cinematograph films of the Grand National have been shown at the London music halls the same day as the race for the past eight years.

A considerable number of miners went into the pits in various districts to-day. Some 2,000 men resumed work in the collieries of Warwickshire and the miners of Lanarkshire are returning in increasing numbers, making a stipulation that their wages shall be paid them as they and their families are starving.

CONTACT MINES MISSING.

London, March 27.—The London Times has the following dispatch from its Constantinople correspondent: "According to reports from consular sources, five of the contact mines recently laid down in the Dardanelles, are missing. Eight more have exploded. The usual rumors concerning the activity of secret agents are current, but there is reason to believe the misfortune was done by a particularly lively school of porpoises, which are hardly likely to have been pressed into the Italian service."

GRANBY COMPANY PLANS OTHER LARGE EXPENDITURES IN PORTLAND CANAL DISTRICT

Vancouver, March 29.—Construction of a smelter with a treatment capacity of 2,000 tons daily at Granby Bay, Portland Canal district for the Granby Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, involving an expenditure of $1,000,000, will be started in May. This was the official announcement made by F. M. Sylvester, general manager of the company, who is in the city. During the present year an equal amount will also be devoted to the development and equipment of the Hidden Creek mine at Granby Bay.

The site for the proposed reduction works, which will also treat customores, has already been graded. A surface tram will convey the ore from the mine to the smelter at tidewater. Although only two hundred men were employed in underground work during the past winter, Mr. Sylvester expects that the force on development and construction work this summer will reach a total of between 700 and 800.

He stated that the recent increase in the price of copper has proved gratifying and profitable to his company. Its smelter at Grand Forks is running full blast, treating over 4,000 tons of ore daily and the mines at Phoenix are also being operated to full capacity.

The latest settlements on Granby Blister copper shipments to New York were on a basis of about 15 cents per pound.

ROYAL ASSENT FOR MAXIMUM WAGE

BALLOTTING AMONG MINERS IN PROGRESS

Cost of Strike to Coal Workers' Unions Already Amounts to $5,216,250

London, March 29.—Royal assent was given to the minimum wage bill at noon to-day.

Ballooning began to-day in all the districts of the United Kingdom on the question whether the million miners now on strike should return to work pending the decision of the district courts, to be appointed under the government's minimum wage act, on the rates of wages in the various centres.

In some cases the result of the balloting will be known this week. The colliers connected with the Brynkinall mine at Chirk, Wales, already have voted on the question and the proportion of five to two of the men is in favor of resuming. The men, however, are an exception to the general rule, as throughout the strike they have strongly supported the owners of the pits. The full returns of the balloting will not be officially announced until April 4, and it is probable that it will be after Easter before all the miners return to work. From now on, however, it is expected that greater numbers will resume each day.

The cost of the strike to the miners' unions to date has been $5,216,250, and the balance in the unions' treasury now amounts to only $4,750,000, the most of which is invested in securities which would not bring their full value under forced sale.

Besides the total spent by the miners' unions, the organizations connected with other trades have distributed nearly $2,500,000 in out-of-work benefits to their members.

The Admiralty has learned a lesson from the strike and has begun working out plans for immense oil and coal storage docks at the naval base at Rosyth, in Scotland.

Owing to the coal strike, the London and North-Western Railway Company refused to run a special train for the cinematograph company, which wanted to bring films of to-day's grand national at Liverpool to London in time to exhibit them at the evening vaudeville performances, and Aviator Hamel will attempt the feat of conveying them.

"We would prefer to have a train, certainly," said the manager of the cinematograph company. "Under no circumstances would the railway company provide us with one. We offered to bring our own coal with us and stoke it ourselves on the tender, but they absolutely refused to consider the matter. WOLVES EATING WOLVES.

Animals Are Starving North of Lake Superior Says Hunters.

Port Arthur, March 29.—Richard Katala, who has brought in two wolf skins from Hematite to apply for bounties, says wolves are finding it hard to get food this winter that they were an armful for distinction.

Bracelets have been worn from time immemorial, but few wearers of the golden bands of the present day know that they were once used to distinguish the insane. Before lunatics were confined to asylums they wore an armlet for distinction.

EXTRADITION CASE AT VANCOUVER

Depositions of Cashier of De-funct Bank of Wallace, Idaho, Read in Court

Vancouver, March 29.—The reading of the depositions of Cashier Edgar Wyman of the defunct State Bank of Commerce, of Wallace, Idaho, took up the whole of yesterday's session at the extradition proceedings against Bernard F. O'Neill.

The case for the prosecution closed in the afternoon, and upon the request of S. S. Taylor, K. C., counsel for the accused, further hearing was adjourned till Saturday next. In the meantime, Mr. Taylor will decide whether he will put in evidence or simply content himself with argument. It was agreed that O'Neill's bail should continue. There are two charges of embezzlement bank funds, aggregating about $5,000. The other charges are making false reports of the bank's standing and accepting deposits knowing the bank was insolvent.

In his depositions which were taken before Judge Worsell, in the probate court at Wallace, Wyman recited the history of the bank's financial difficulties, which he said began in 1908 with the collapse of the Carnegie Trust Company of New York, of which O'Neill was a director. The direct cause of the bank's collapse, he stated, was the large borrowings and overdrafts which O'Neill allowed himself, and companies with which he was associated, notably the Layne Lumber Company and the Idaho Northern Railway Company. At the time of the collapse, said Wyman, the Layne Lumber Company had $200,000 of the bank's money absolutely without security.

In detailing the manner in which he said O'Neill used to alter the figures of the trial balances in order to conceal $200,000 of the overdrafts, Wyman said he protested to O'Neill saying it did not look fair to the public.

"It would have looked a lot better to the public had Wyman resigned instead of continuing in the service of the bank," commented his honor, Judge Grant, who is hearing the case.

J. W. Deb Farris, who is appearing for the state of Idaho, based his contention of fraud on the evidences that the bank was insolvent for some time before the crash.

"To issue false reports and to accept money from depositors under those circumstances, is obtaining money by false pretences," he argued.

URGES HIGHERSTEEL TARIFF

President of Nova Scotia Company Declares More Protection is Needed

New Glasgow, N. S., March 29.—At the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Company, President Harris stated that prices had been the lowest in the history of the Canadian steel trade, due to the dumping of surplus American products on this market at prices below cost, made possible by an inadequate Canadian steel tariff. In 1897, he said, quoting pig iron as an example, the Canadian makers had protection by a duty and bounty combined of 30 per cent, but this had now decreased to less than 10 per cent. When the bounties expired readjustment of the tariff was expected and delay in this wrought a great and lasting injury to the Canadian industry. He did not think it was creditable to Canadians that nearly one-half of the iron and steel used in Canada was imported from other countries which could and should, with proper tariff conditions, be manufactured here.

PANAMA CANAL ZONE.

Conflict of Opinion Regarding Use for Agriculture Purposes.

Washington, D. C., March 29.—A conflict of opinion has arisen between the war department and the department of agriculture over the use of the Panama Canal zone for agricultural purposes. The war department, which has control of the ten-mile wide strip, wants it preserved for military purposes only. The setting of the land along the sides of the canal by people from all parts of the world would make it difficult, the military authorities declare, to keep the canal and management which it is now in the hands of the department after seven years' investigation. They have published a lengthy report showing the farming possibilities of the canal zone, what crops could best be raised there, and what the opening of the canal to commerce would mean to that territory.

LAWYER SHOOTS HIMSELF.

Washington, D. C., March 29.—Philip S. Hitchborn, a young lawyer and son of the late Rear Admiral Hitchborn, killed himself Wednesday night in despondency and humiliation over the elopement more than a year ago of his wife, Eleanor Hoyt Hitchborn, with Horace L. Wylie, a prominent Washington attorney. He shot himself in the head and died almost immediately.

Hitchborn went for dinner to the home of his sister, Mrs. Paul S. Pearseall, who was Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr. The family was out and shortly after his arrival servants heard a shot in his room. The door was broken in and he was found dead. On a table Hitchborn had left a note sealed. The coroner took charge of it and its contents may be made known if the family consent.

A person who claimed to have seen the note declared part of its text was:

"I am not to blame for this; I think I have lost my mind."

LOSS BY DEFEAT OF RECIPROCITY*SENATE COMMITTEE
OPENS INVESTIGATION

R. McKenzie Shows How West Is Suffering for Want of Market

Ottawa, March 29.—The senate committee to investigate the loss or gain sustained by the failure of reciprocity to pass, held its first meeting with Senator Edwards in charge. Two witnesses were heard. R. McKenzie quoted at length figures showing the price of wheat at various dates in Winnipeg and Minneapolis, all going to show that the Minneapolis price was higher.

Senator Pope suggested that the banks were responsible for the fact that the farmers had to market all their grain in the fall. All paper comes due at the crop season. Mr. McKenzie agreed and said that financial conditions in the west are deplorable. He thought the banks had considerable to do with the fact that farmers do not store their wheat over the winter.

In answer to a question by Senator Edwards, Mr. McKenzie said that reciprocity would have been a decided advantage to western farmers. He could not see where they would have lost anything. It would have relieved the present agitation.

"Do you speak for the farmers of the west?" asked Senator Bell.

"Yes, fifty per cent of the English-speaking people are members of the Grain Growers' organization, and they are a unit on this subject."

Replying to another question by Senator Edwards, Mr. McKenzie said that if present conditions continue they are not going to make much progress. There will be an increase in acreage of four millions this year. He asked how they would be able to handle this wheat. He figured that the crop would be marketed at a loss of from 10 to 20 per cent. "It would be more prudent not to expand," he added.

Senator Pope thought that the United States was exporting as much as Canada, so that he failed to see where there was much market in the United States for our wheat. This Mr. McKenzie denied. They want hard wheat, he added and they have to come to Canada for it.

Senator Bell: "Then if you have a monopoly the United States must come to Canada and will have to take the duty off Canadian wheat."

"Well, not necessarily," replied Mr. McKenzie, "they grow some hard wheat and that is only part of our market."

Mr. Lane testified that the cattle industry of Alberta was rapidly being wiped out of existence.

Five years ago there were 900,000 cattle in Alberta. To-day there are only 500,000. He said that the trade with England was unsatisfactory. It cost from $25 to $32 a head to make the cattle fit in England. In 1906 they shipped 14,732 cattle, and in 1911 only 11,565.

Replying to a question by Senator Pope, Mr. Lane said that the British embargo had certainly hurt the trade. Access to the United States would have helped the industry. The United States had plenty of cattle to supply their own market, but the Alberta cattle were superior to anything raised in the republic.

MORE MILLS CLOSED.

Raymond, Wash., March 29.—The decision of the millmen to close their mills indefinitely because of the strike was put into effect yesterday and not a mill started. The saloons were all ordered closed indefinitely by order of the mayor. A committee appointed by the business men to meet a committee of strikers was informed that no demands had been made, nor would there be any made until the strikers of Gray's Harbor had been heard from. No disturbances have been reported.

BABY TERRIBLY SCALDED

Relieved by Zam-Buk.

Doctor Agreed Zam-Buk Was "Best Possible Treatment."

Mrs. Albert Sawyer, of Midland, Ont., says: "While living in Brantford last winter my little son spilled a vessel of boiling water over his neck. He was terribly scalded, and we immediately called in a doctor. The treatment did not seem to give the child ease or heal the terrible scalds, so after a week's trial we got some Zam-Buk and applied it. It gave the child ease almost immediately, and after a few days' use the scalds seemed to be getting along finely."

"To make quite sure that all was right, however, we called in a second doctor. He said everything was going along splendidly, the scalds were healing and the little one would soon be quite recovered. Then we told him Zam-Buk worked a complete cure."

Mrs. S. Smith and Mrs. J. H. Teakle, of 73 Brock St., Brantford, who knew of the above accident and what followed, write: "We certify that these facts are true in every detail."

Mothers should know that for burns, cuts, scalds, bruises, eczema, piles, and all skin diseases, there is nothing to equal Zam-Buk. That was the opinion of the doctor connected with the above case, and is the opinion of hundreds of other doctors the world over. Zam-Buk is obtainable from all druggists and stores, 50c box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

AEROPLANES FOR THE GERMAN ARMY

Private Citizens and Municipalities Will Present Airships to Emperor

Berlin, March 29.—A movement has been spreading quietly in Germany to make extensive use of aeroplanes for military purposes. Private persons and municipalities are coming forward on their own initiative to aid in the movement.

The Frankfort, Essen, Posen and Heidelberg councils have voted to present the emperor with aeroplanes and a number of capitalists have donated liberal amounts to the emperor's airplane fund.

Airlanes in War.

Washington, D. C., March 29.—The question of aerial navigation in time of war is one of the important subjects to be discussed at the annual meeting next month of the American Society of International Law. The question of organization and procedure for the coming third Hague conference and the consideration of subjects which might properly be included in the programme of the conference will occupy most of the time of the meeting.

Oscar S. Strauss, former secretary of commerce and labor, will speak on "The Humanity of American Diplomacy." Dr. Alva Rez, Chilean author and publicist, on topics which from the viewpoint of the Latin-American publics might be considered at the third conference, and Pasquale Fiore, an Italian senator, on "Some Consideration of the Past, Present and Future of International Law."

IMMIGRANT TRAFFIC HEAVY.

Chicago, March 29.—Railroads with terminals in Chicago report an unusually heavy immigrant travel. The bulk of the movement, it is said, is going to the northwestern states, although heavy travel to the western provinces of Canada has been noted. The large immigration of Englishmen is believed to be due to present conditions in the industrial world of England.

Senator Pope thought that the United States was exporting as much as Canada, so that he failed to see where there was much market in the United States for our wheat. This Mr. McKenzie denied. They want hard wheat, he added and they have to come to Canada for it.

Senator Bell: "Then if you have a monopoly the United States must come to Canada and will have to take the duty off Canadian wheat."

"Well, not necessarily," replied Mr. McKenzie, "they grow some hard wheat and that is only part of our market."

CHICAGO, MARSHALL FIELD & CO.

Chicago, March 29.—Theodore Roosevelt, amid the most tumultuous scenes characterizing a Chicago political campaign in recent years, served notice on friend and foe in his auditorium speech that if he fails to get the nomination of the Republican convention he will lead his followers in a third party movement. Although the former president chose carefully his words, in phrasing his note of warning or declaration of the intention, or whatever his statement may be termed, it was not lost on the vast throng filling the theatre. Mr. Roosevelt said:

"In a speech at Columbus I tried to develop two main lines of thought, first, that the people have the right to rule, and that through the exercise of this right we must obtain social and industrial justice, and, second, that our aim must be to control business—not to strangle it.

"The three great classes of the American community are the farmers, the wage-workers and the business men, big and little, wholesale and retail. It is essential that all three shall prosper. It is essential that there shall be a more equitable division of prosperity than has been the case in the past.

"As regards prosperity, there are two things to remember—first, that there must be a division of prosperity so that all shall benefit, and second, that there can be no such division of prosperity unless the prosperity is there to divide.

"It is curious to see how often the extremists on both sides combine against the sane and moderate men who are striving to fight a real battle for justice. The small business man and

Russia's Scheme in China CheckedPLANNED TO SEIZE PROVINCE OF MONGOLIA

Tried to Use Japan as Catspaw—Partition Move Blocked by Powers

Washington, D. C., March 29.—That the American armoured cruiser fleet, which is now nearing the Orient where it could be ready at a moment's notice, and that the United States, backed by Great Britain and Germany acting in concert, compelled Russia to withdraw from participation in the recent Chinese loan became known yesterday through reliable sources and that the active steps taken by the powers against the partition of China, as proposed by Russia and Japan on the hypothecation of the Russian-Belgian loan in connection with the Kalgan railway, would have forced Russia from participation even at the cannon's mouth.

Through the Kalgan loan, Russia aimed to obtain a vice-like grip on the province of Mongolia, which she is determined to steal away from China and appropriate to herself.

If Russia had been permitted to consummate the Kalgan loan, according to the men conversant with the negotiations, she would have immediately established a police force of Russian regiments along the railroad, which leads from Pekin into the heart of Mongolia.

The first scheme hatched by Russia was to assist Mongolia in obtaining her independence then to establish a protectorate. In this she was balked by the Knox note to the powers in which all signified their willingness to keep on neutral grounds so far as further division of China was concerned. Having failed in this plot, Russia started the other one.

The basis for the objection to the Kalgan loan made by the powers is, first, because of its exceeding secrecy, and secondly, that it denied equality of influence in China, both of which were in absolute violation of the Knox note.

So determined were the powers to prevent Russia from obtaining a grip on the Kalgan railroad, which they realized would have inevitably been followed by the segregation and annexation of Mongolia, that they would have prevented it by force of arms. The Chinese foreign office had been advised by the three powers of Russia's plan and warned to co-operate in defeating it. Pointing out to Japan her folly in co-operating with Russia, which planned to use the Mikado as a catspaw to help pluck the Mongolian chestnut out of the fire, the powers placed before her ministers in Pekin unmistakable evidence of the Czar's perfidy even in the face of the recent secret Russo-Japanese pact. With this agreement only just in force Russia, without notice to Japan, tried to put through the Kalgan loan. Japan had been given to understand she was to profit equally through the piratical expedition into China and was to be given any needed aid in trouble with the United States over Manchuria and the Philippines, but the Czar apparently was unable to resist a characteristic trick. The Kalgan railroad, which Russia is now and has always tried to grab, not only commands the trade of Mongolia, but invades the sacred precincts of Japan in Manchuria as well.

It was this fact that the powers made very plain to the Japanese minister, Mr. Ijima, in Pekin. So startled was he by such an unexpected development that he left his post and hastened to Tokyo to lay it before his imperial master.

The powers in being able to prevent the Kalgan loan and breaking up the coalition between Russia and Japan laid bare the perfidy to the Mikado and blocked for the present at least the partition of China—unless Russia hatches a more successful plot.

It is feared, however, that caught in her treachery, Russia will offer to lay all her cards on the table and make any sacrifice to retain the co-operation of Japan in pilfering China of her provinces.

BUY INTERIOR RANCH.

Vancouver, March 29.—The Foun-tain ranch, situated eight miles north of the town of Lillooet on the Fraser river, has been bought by Robert Kelly of this city and Major Snyder, a veteran officer of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police who for the past ten years has been stationed in the Yukon. The ranch has been under cultivation for many years and is one of the show-places of the district. It consists of 405 acres of crown granted land, 245 acres of which are to-day under crop. The property has an extensive frontage on the Fraser river. It is the intention of the purchasers to further develop the agricultural potentialities of the ranch, adding to the tilled area and paying increased attention to stock-raising. The purchasers look upon the property as an excellent investment.

KINDNESS REWARDED.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 29.—Sam Yet, one of America's richest Chinese miners, came into town Wednesday night from Nevada, prepared to divide his fortune half and half with Sheriff William A. Hammel. Several local mining officials who know the Chinaman say his properties are worth from $500,000 to $750,000.

Five years ago he was a prosperous laundry man with plenty of money and a handsome white wife. She died and Sam Yet began gambling and soon lost everything. Then Hammel, who had known him a long time, lent him $1,600 for a new start.

Hammel says he never saw the property, but has been shown many rich samples from there.

REBELS FAIL TO CATCH FEDERALESMovement to Surround Retreating Mexican Troops Was Not Successful

Jiminez, Mex., March 29.—The rebel movement designed to surround Gen. Truett Aubert was not executed with sufficient speed, and yesterday it was discovered that the elusive federal general and his 1,200 men during the night had put 18 miles between himself and the insurrectos.

General Aubert by his masterly retreat is keeping the main body of Orozco's army occupied in chasing him through the hills west of Jiminez, while the main body of the federals, under General Huerta, is concentrating at Torreon and rendering it impregnable to assault.

It was Aubert with his men who came from Torreon by way of Mapimi through tortuous defiles of the mountains, and by threatening Jiminez, made it impossible for Orozco to follow up his brilliant victory at Corrales by pursuing the routed federals as they fled toward Torreon.

Had his own base at Jiminez not been endangered by Aubert, Orozco easily could have annihilated the fleeing remnants of the joint commands of Salas and Blanquet. Aubert, with consummate daring, knowing that he was outnumbered almost 4 to 1, crossed his way on Monday to the Dolores Ranch, about nine miles west of Jiminez, and was driven back only after a hard five hours' fight Wednesday, which, however, was an artillery duel, and in which there were comparatively few casualties. When the federals finally were dislodged, they fled to the southward, and it was supposed they would not return.

After a night's rest the federals came back Wednesday with the intention of cutting the national railway north of Jiminez and dislodging Orozco from his base of supplies at Chihuahua and forcing him to withdraw from Jiminez to save the cities of Santa Rosalia and Chihuahua from attack and to maintain unbroken his line of communication with his port of entry at Juarez.

Aubert's forces were halted at the San Pedro Ranch by a Liberal force under General Salazar and after a skirmish retired in good order to Villa Lopez, where they took cover under the protecting banks of the Aquiles in the irrigated fields of that region. During the night Salazar was reinforced by the major portion of General Campa's division which had been sent out from Jiminez and 500 cavalry which had come up from Relojito, the Liberal forces manoeuvring all night hoping to envelop Aubert so completely that his capture, bag and baggage, would be complete.

When daylight came, Aubert was gone. He had left his campfires burning to deceive his besiegers, but with his men had gone out into the hills to Atotonilco, about six miles further west and to the south. A number of shells were thrown into the deserted camp by the Liberal gunners before it was discovered there were no men there, which led to the impression in Jiminez that a big battle was on.

The vanguard of the Salazar and Fernandez columns in pursuit of Aubert exchanged long range shots with the latter's rear guard yesterday afternoon, but with no apparent result.

SITUATION GRAVE.

Washington, D. C., March 29.—Controversy reigns in Mexico City over the federal defeat at Chihuahua. Orozco's success there is looked on as quite ominous and likely to be followed by serious events throughout the republic, according to state department reports from the Mexican capital.

The federals, following their recent engagement in Southern Chihuahua, retreated to Torreon in a demoralized condition and, state department reports say, the rebels are following them slowly. The rebel successes have shaken the confidence of some of the Washington officials in the easy triumph of Madero over his enemies.

While there still is no thought of armed intervention in Mexico, attention is being drawn to the fact that the American government has laid down the principle that, having regular constitutions, the various disturbing elements in Spanish-American countries must be obliged to live up to their provisions so that the government of each republic must be representative of the will of the majority of the people, freely expressed, and that there should be no self-created despotism.

The problem soon may be presented as to whether some such a presentation may not have to be made to the ambitious aspirants for executive power in Mexico in the event of Madero's overthrow. Even in such a case, however, it is believed here there will be no necessity of an invasion or for the exercise of anything more than moral suasion, such as has been potent in the case of other disturbed Latin-American republics.

YESTERDAY: AN ANALYSIS.

The expected has happened. The thing unprecedented in the history of any province within the Empire has been achieved, and the government of Hon. Richard McBride has returned to power without a single member of the political party distinctively in opposition representing it in the legislature. The circumstance is an eloquent tribute to the genius of the statesman who, nine years ago—when receiving the congratulations of his friends over his first election as Premier—said "the thing is to get in, and when you are in to stay in." It illustrates what has often been declared by experts and authorities in every sphere of life's activities; that is, that by selecting a personal motto comprehensive of one's capabilities and by living up to it one can achieve his ends. Mr. McBride has the unprecedented satisfaction of reigning supreme in a legislature composed all but exclusively of members of his own party without let or hindrance and with a party discipline sufficiently rigid, exacting and severe to assure him that his will shall not be questioned. It is the irony of fate that there is the proverbial fly in the pot of ointment and that the Socialist party—that which kept him in power during his first term—is the only one represented in the seats of the opposition this year. The gods have evidently not forgotten the Premier after all.

That the magnificent achievement of Premier McBride was a machine victory we think not even his warmest admirers and personal friends will venture to deny. There is abundant evidence of this in the fact that in the last events of the campaign the Premier's most emphatic note was that party discipline must be maintained. There is still further evidence in the fact that some of the Premier's most loyal partisans and most servile supporters were slaughtered by the machine as ruthlessly as the bitterest opponent of the party. Even the personal candidate of the chief government organ lost his deposit. Verily, "party discipline must be maintained."

In many respects the popular feeling—irrespective of politics—will be that it is well. Premier McBride's now the head of an untrammeled, unobstructed and uncriticizable administration. It is safe to say that in the legislature, as out of it, party discipline must be maintained. The whole country will now look to Premier McBride and expect him to fulfil the extravagant promises he has made. There are no snags in his pathway; it is a clear and open road, and if he fails to make good the entire responsibility must rest upon himself. It is no inconsiderable responsibility. The wise men in Mr. McBride's own party would fain have it otherwise. The whole impact of a load of care "unprecedented within the Empire" is now on the shoulders of the Premier, and at this stage of the political, industrial and economic development of the province the problems would make many men steady themselves and look the situation in the face. The question "Throughout the whole Empire" will now be whether the Premier can make good. We wish him no ill in the task to which he has set himself—and to which no one else has committed him.

As for the Liberals, they accept the situation philosophically. There is no vindictiveness or bitterness and very little disappointment in their defeat. They knew from the first that there was no hope of making appreciable inroads into the government fortifications. While the achievement of the Premier is unprecedented within the Empire, the fact must not be forgotten that the circumstances under which the Liberal party entered the campaign were also unprecedented within the Empire. It would have been a stupendous miracle had the Liberals returned four or five members to the legislature. Their hands are clean. No party ever conducted a campaign with more moderation nor with more truth and fact as the weapons of their warfare. But the transition stage through which both the political and social affairs of the province is passing made it impossible to impress the electorate with the solemnity of the facts which they presented. Only time can do this, and it is to be hoped that time will still establish that the Liberals must be mistaken in some of their conclusions.

We think we should not omit a reference to the very creditable campaign conducted in Victoria by the Liberal candidates. Messrs. Brewster and Elliot have nothing to humiliate them. In the capital city with all the centrifugal and centripetal forces of the main machine enginery at work, they scored a moral victory that is not to be lightly dismissed. There are circumstances connected with the election for which the rank and file of the electorate are in no way responsible, and it must not be taken as a reflection upon the Conservative party as a whole that these things are true. The machine is responsible and the most incorruptible electorate is powerless to register its will under the conditions which obtained. What was true of Victoria was doubtless true to some extent in every constituency. It may therefore be taken for granted that every vote cast for a Liberal candidate was a vote for principle no matter by whom it was cast.

If we believe Mr. McBride and the organs of his party the province will now enter upon its real era of expansion and prosperity. The marvelous achievements of the last nine years are to pale as the moonbeams before the dawn in view of what the Premier will now do for his people. Victoria has certainly much to anticipate. We must have many hundreds of miles of additional railways on Vancouver Island. We shall have ferry connections with English Bluff and the mainland. We shall have through transcontinental trains from Victoria to somewhere in the East within two years. We shall have a bridge at Seymour Narrows to give all-rail connection with the mainland at points farther north. We shall have magnificent public works of various kinds. Victoria will become one of the greatest cities on the continent according to Mr. McBride's organs, and the people will look to Mr. McBride to make it such.

With Mr. Borden in power at Ottawa we shall have greater harbor works, breakwaters and other port facilities to accommodate the entire shipping of the Panama canal. If there be anything that has not yet been enumerated, we have only to ask for it and receive it, for there are no enemies of progress in the legislature, and the influences that have kept back the city and province are no longer able to retard the plane which Mr. McBride has in view.

On the whole we think we are quite satisfied with the results of the election yesterday.

A NOVEL SUGGESTION.

The Toronto World is aroused over the probable reopening of the question of federal subsidies to the provinces by the terms of the bill fixing the boundaries of Manitoba and Ontario. While approving the financial terms of the bill as affecting Manitoba, it thinks that "coupled with the government's agreement to arbitrate the demands of British Columbia for better financial terms it will undoubtedly provoke a general demand from the other provinces for an increase in the subsidies agreed upon in 1906 and made effective in 1908 by an amendment to the British North America Act."

It looks upon the proposal of the Ottawa government to assist the provinces in a general scheme of highway improvement as acceptable in recognition of the fact that the federal treasury absorbs almost all the provincial revenue resulting from "indirect taxation." The World then goes on to make a novel suggestion, which we conceive to be offered because, if adopted, it would act as a substitute for the increase of the federal subsidies. It says:

"Would it not relieve the provinces of a considerable expense as well as contribute to our national development if the federal government assumed the duty and paid the cost of enforcing federal law? It is certainly unjust to saddle the provinces with the expense of prosecuting those who misuse the mails, defraud the customs, or violate statutes designed to protect the property or the wards of the Dominion government. It is certainly inappropriate to have federal statutes dependent upon various provincial attorneys-general for their enforcement. Nor does there seem to be any reason why the federal government should not bear the expense of prosecuting those who murder, steal or otherwise bring themselves within the purview of the criminal code."

When this matter was up for debate in the House of Commons a year or two ago, the present minister of public works, Hon. F. D. Monk, expressed himself strongly in favor of the proposition that the cost of enforcing the criminal code should be borne by the Dominion government.

"Reform in this direction would relieve the provinces of a large annual expenditure and insure the enforcement of many federal statutes with whose vindication the federal government does not at present concern itself. True, the administration of justice is confined to the provinces, and no one would deny their right to prosecute offenders. If the Dominion government proved inefficient. At the same time our constitution provides for the creation of federal courts which might well deal with the enforcement of federal statutes, including those relating to crimes and criminal law. The subject, we admit, is one well worthy of careful consideration by the Dominion and provincial governments alike."

We do not know whether it would be acceptable to Premier McBride to have the quietus applied to his famous and belligerent "Better Terms" fiasco in the manner suggested, but we are quite certain that any proposal to take the administration of any laws now falling within the work of the department of the Attorney-General of the province would meet with uncompromising hostility from Hon. William J. Bowser.

What is chiefly valuable about the suggestion of the World is its intimation that the question of readjusting the federal subsidies will not be amicably settled. We may infer that settlement will be deferred as long as it is possible to put it off, and now that Mr. McBride's political friends are in power at Ottawa we do not anticipate that there will be very much more bluster and cannon-firing at this end of the Dominion. If the other provinces will agree to let bygones be bygones and forget the whole matter, we may almost promise that very little more will be heard of the annoying problem from British Columbia while Mr. McBride and Mr. Borden are jointly in power.

With very deep regret the Times today announces the death of Hon. C. E. Pooley. For many years the departed gentleman was in every sense a prominent figure in the social and political life of the province of British Columbia. On almost every question of a public nature the Times could not agree with the views of Mr. Pooley, and the consequence was many a merry verbal joust. Nevertheless there were qualities in the man which were admirable, and the passing of such an outstanding figure from the stage of his former activities cannot be permitted without a fitting tribute of respect.

Arthur Awken, the special immigration commissioner of the Borden government, is now in England protesting that he is without preconceived ideas on immigration problems. Were it not for the arrival of his weekly personal organ with its 5,000 personal pronouns in its front page "Intimate Note" no one would ever hear of the great "I" am. But what is a personal organ for if not to keep one's self before the public?

According to one estimate, the finest part of the Premier's speech last night was his eulogy of Mr. Matson. It was evidently sincere, for it seemed to be highly appreciated by every Conservative present.

A PARALLEL.

In the olden days the Israelitish women used to sing that "Saul has slain his thousands and David his tens of thousands."

In these modern days of dismissals of postmasters, customs officers, lighthouse keepers, etc., the Liberal chant may be that "Monk has fired his dozens and Major Currie his hundreds."

Chinese Wanted.—Because he failed to report to the chief of police a Chinese ticket-of-leave man named Chin Dow was called this morning in the police court to give a reason. He said he did not understand and was allowed off with a warning. Chin Dow was sentenced in September to six months for keeping an opium joint and was allowed out in three months. The prosecution was taken under instructions of Dominion Police Superintendent A. P. Sherwood.

Hanna & Thomson, Pandora Ave. Leading Funeral furnishing house. Connections, Vancouver, New Westminster and Winnipeg.

Appeal Dismissed.—Holding that there was no reason for disturbing the decision of Magistrate Jay, who awarded Jacob Katz the amount claimed, $50, and costs, Judge Lampman yesterday dismissed Moses Flash's appeal against the decision. The suit was one to recover $50, the amount of a conditional deposit paid by plaintiff on the purchase of the defendant's business. The sale was not completed because of the failure of the vendor to obtain an extension of the lease of the premises, which are on Johnson street.

Ivy Leaf Club.—The Ivy Leaf Club held their usual weekly meeting at the Alexandra Club last evening, the full attendance of thirty-two members being present. A most enjoyable time was spent by the guests in playing cards, the following being the prize winners: First lady, Miss Elsie Stafford; second lady, Miss Anna Chater; first gentleman, W. Scampell; second gentleman, Roger Keene. The seal prize went to Mrs. J. Orrick, and the consolation prizes to Mrs. G. Hall and Mr. Ferry. After some discussion it was decided to continue the meetings for playing whist until the end of April, after which the club functions will take the form of social outings.

Mrs. de Leeuw's Lecture.—A splendid lecture was given at the Alexandra Club last evening by Mrs. de Leeuw, of Chicago, who addressed a large audience of Victoria theosophists on "The Coming of a World Teacher." The lecturer spoke most eloquently and kept the audience enthralled for over an hour by her interesting treatment of the theme. The chair was taken by Captain Clarke. Mrs. Leeuw, who is leaving town to-day to lecture in Vancouver, is now on a tour of Canada and the United States, in her capacity as lecturer for the American section of the Theosophical Society, and after going East may possibly pay Victoria a return visit.

New Realty Firm.—Among the new realty offices established in Victoria and one that will doubtless be well patronized by the investing public is that of Fraser & Hick, who have opened for business on progressive lines on Douglas street, opposite the city hall. The partners in this concern are the well known citizens William Fraser and T. J. W. Hick, whose natural business ability and long experience will stand them in good stead in their new departure. Both the partners are popular and have wide connections. They are handling all classes of investment properties.

Judge Martin to Protest.—An eastern exchange publishes the following dispatch from London: Judge Martin, of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, who intended traveling home on the Laurentian from Queenstown, Ireland, was prevented owing to the inability of that vessel to call due to a storm. He is said to have protested strongly and with several passengers announced his intention of proceeding to Liverpool to lay a prompt protest before the Cunard officials.

Meet me at the Bismarck.

Edward Parsons' Concert.—A very interesting musical evening was given under the direction of Edward Parsons on Wednesday evening at the Metropolitan church schoolroom, a fairly large audience which made up in enthusiasm what it may have lacked in numbers, being present. The principal feature of the evening was the very able paper given by Mr. Parsons, entitled "An Hour with Haydn," in which the speaker described the boyhood of the great composer and the manner in which he received his musical training. The programme for the evening was a very delightful one, among those assisting being Mrs. G. A. Downey, who possesses a clear soprano voice; Mrs. L. V. Tickner, contralto; each of whom gave solo during the evening, and who combined in the singing of a very delightful duet near the conclusion of the programme. Mrs. Hargreaves contributed two-cello solos while Mr. J. O. Dunford sang two tenor solos during intervals in the reading of Mr. Parsons' paper. The concert was held under the auspices of the Metropolitan Young Women's Club, to the general fund of which the proceeds will be devoted.

Rummage Sale a Success.—The rummage sale, organized by the Senior Anti-Tuberculosis Society for the purpose of augmenting the maintenance fund of the sanitarium at Tranquille, opened yesterday morning at 11 o'clock at St. John's schoolroom. Friends of the society responded readily to the request for donations, and the temporary salesroom has been converted into a busy shopping centre suggestive of some of the quaint curio shops which one sees in the bigger cities. Clocks, bedroom suites, trunks, sewing machines, books, baskets, pictures and clothes of every variety are to be found in strange confusion, a busy crowd of would-be purchasers lingering around each pile of attractions. The collection has been very carefully made, in order to insure purchasers against any sort of infectious disease. Nothing in the room is sold for more than $2, which maximum price limit is a considerable aid to the purchaser in making selections. This is the fourth sale the society has held, each of which has been more successful than the one preceding, so that the organizers feel confident of a profitable turnover at the conclusion of the sale to-night at 9 o'clock. The various members have responded readily to the request for helpers, and the following ladies are assisting as saleswomen at the sale: Mrs. Stuart Robertson, in the absence of the president, acting as commander-in-chief of the proceedings; Mrs. Frank Barnard; Mrs. Herbert Carmichael, Mrs. George Howell, Mrs. W. J. H. Holmes, Mrs. Beauchamp Tye, Mrs. Brett, Mrs. Wilkinson, Mrs. Rampey, Mrs. H. A. Munn, Mrs. Ballantyne, Miss Saunders and Miss Heisterman. The ladies were also assisted by Mr. Swabey, the verger of St. John's church.

OBSERVANCE OF SABBATH.

Address by Rev. T. W. Gladstone to W. C. T. U. Yesterday.

The parlor meeting held yesterday afternoon by the W. C. T. U. at the residence of Mrs. F. Waddington, Dallas Avenue, proved most successful in the matter of attendance, a large number of members and visitors being present. The president, Mrs. Williscroft, occupied the chair, the feature of the afternoon being the address given by Rev. T. W. Gladstone on the subject of "Sabbath Observance." Mr. Gladstone pointed out the system of Sabbath observance in vogue throughout the British Isles, saying that in England the public houses were closed during church hours, in Scotland the day was strictly observed in this respect, while in Ireland, with the exception of a few large cities, the public houses remained closed on Sunday.

British Columbia, he said, had laws to prevent the sale of intoxicants on the Sabbath, although it had been difficult to get the laws enforced to the letter. The Sabbath was a day which had been given to us, and we should prize and value the gift, and he who violated the commandment, which God made "that we should keep the Sabbath day holy," injured himself more than anyone else. The Lord's Day Act had to do almost entirely with the matter of the paying of wages on Sunday, but in spite of this there were numbers of fruit and candy stores open in the city every Sabbath day. Shooting was also prohibited, but this, too, was a law which was not observed, and those who wished the day to be one of rest and quiet were unable often to experience this owing to the constant use of guns in the neighborhood. The old-fashioned observance of the Sabbath day was quiet and restful, and had none of the disquieting elements of the modern Sunday. Mr. Gladstone urged that the day should be spent in meditation and attending the House of God, and that we should not allow the sacred day to be taken away from us by abusing the privilege which God had given.

Mr. Spofford moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Gladstone for his address, heartily endorsing all the thoughts which he had expressed. This was seconded by Mrs. Andrews, the latter observing that she was very glad to see on the agenda of the Local Council of Women a resolution regarding the closing of stores on Sunday. Mrs. Bromley-Jubb and Mrs. Williscroft spoke to the motion, the former calling attention to the need for training the children in their manner of regarding the Sabbath. Reference was made to the recent action taken in Vancouver in the matter, and the hope was expressed that Victoria could not long be denied the privilege of enforcing the same act.

Miss Miller and Miss Palmer, who sang during the afternoon, provided a pleasant feature of the programme and tea was served at the conclusion of the proceedings. Mr. Gladstone before the meeting dissolved that the superintendents of the various Sunday schools throughout the city should be asked to speak to the children on Easter Sunday about the abuse of the Sabbath day which followed the buying of candies on Sunday.

The civil service class meets Monday, Thursday and Friday from 8 to 10 p.m., and the lecturers are E. Hamilton-Smith, M. A., B. Sc., and G. V. Fallis, B. A.

The Camera call attention to the fact that a special dark-room has been equipped in the building for developing and finishing photographs. The subscription to the club is only $1 per year, and the officers are: President, R. E. Crompton; secretary-treasurer, R. M. Jones; executive, C. H. Agnew and G. W. Robinson.

The committee call attention to the fact that there will be no gymnasium classes on Good Friday, April 5.

BOXING IN BALANCE.

Bill for Abolishment of Commission in New York Pending in Senate.

Albany, N. Y., March 29.—The first annual report of the New York Athletic Commission, which was created a year ago to supervise all boxing and sparring matches in the state, is before the legislature. Whether the commission will continue in existence is still a matter of doubt. A bill for the repeal of the law which created it has passed the lower house of the legislature and is now pending in the senate. The abolition of the commission would end legalized boxing in New York State.

A. O. F. SOCCER TEAM.

The A. O. F. soccer team for Saturday's game against J. B. A. at Oak Bay, is as follows: Goal, Harvey; backs, Ainslie and Brynjofsson; halves, W. Young, Kelsall and Paterson; forwards, McGregor, Petch, Jamieson, J. Young and C. Baker; reserves, D. Young and Sweeney. The game starts at 3 p.m.

SOME hats have more style than quality—some the reverse. The best combination of both style and quality is found in the world famous STETSON hats. Our spring "Stetsons" are beauties. Whether it is a derby or soft hat, style and grace are worked into every line and curve. We have them in various new styles. All Shapes and Colors $4.00

STUDY OF A. A. U. RULES FOR BOXING WOULD HELP SOME

Paragraph 13 Covers Situation Thoroughly—Large and Assorted Card of Bouts at Victoria Theatre To-night.

Paragraph 13, A. A. U. Boxing Rules—In all competitions the decision shall be given in favor of the competitor who displays the best style and obtains the greatest number of points. The points shall be: For attack, direct clean hits with the knuckles of either hand on any part of the front or side of the head or body above the belt; defense guarding, slipping, ducking, counter-hitting or getting away. Where points are otherwise equal consideration to be given the man who does most of the leading off.

A more general knowledge of the wording of paragraph 13 of the A. A. U. boxing rules, the rule for the guidance of referees in making decisions in bouts, might tend to lessen the dissatisfaction often felt by the fans with decisions rendered by the referee. The rule adopted by the governing board of the A. A. U., the supreme authority so far as amateur sports are concerned, covers the situation thoroughly. If its provisions be remembered by all referees and learned by the fans there will be a general standard to go by and dissension should to a large extent be avoided.

A combination of common sense and a common standard ought to make the situation more satisfactory all around. For every move made by either of the participants in a boxing bout a credit mark or a black mark can be set down against or for that fighter. A point should be scored for every clean blow which is landed, but it is just as much to the credit of a fighter, and would avail him just as much in a fight to a finish to step out of the way or to block a punch started by his opponent. Guarding, slipping, ducking, counter hitting and getting away all count as much to a fighter's credit as the infliction of damage.

Aggressiveness counts a point, too, but here is where the common sense should have a little inning. If his attack gains a fighter nothing but punishment it cannot be said to count in his favor very heavily. If he rushes in intent on putting over a punch, but is stopped by a smash on the jaw, he does not seem to be making much headway by his aggressiveness. Where a man accomplishes nothing by constantly rushing in it is nothing in his favor. That seems plain. This is probably the explanation of the different decisions always rendered after one of Knockout Brown's fights. He is always rushing in a swinging, apparently satisfied if his blows land anywhere. Against a clever boy, not many in a dozen of these wild swings will land.

For a contrast take Packey McFarland, Mike Gibbons or Young Erne. They all know what they are doing all the time. If they aim at a man's nose they hit it, and it takes more than one of the wildest fighters, of which we see many, to get past their defense. Mike Gibbons owes his sensational rise in New York to the fact that he is not only wonderfully clever on the defense, but also when he sees an opening he can send over his right and it will land just where he wants it.

All this will interest those who care nothing for the scientific side of the fighting game and are best pleased when they see two truck drivers wallop each other into insensibility, meanwhile wallowing in a ring full of gore. As soon as it is more generally understood that boxing can be made as scientific a sport as fencing, and scored as accurately, just so soon the game will not be subjected to a setback at the hands of "reformers" every so often.

There have been a couple of changes in the programme of bouts for tonight's tournament in the Victoria theatre, as published in the Times last evening. It has been necessary to cancel the bout between Jack Willis, of the J. B. A. A., and Charlie Gordon, in the 145-lb class. Willis is a fireman on the E. & N. and finds it impossible to get away and Gordon received a trip-hammer blow on the head at the club the other evening from the effects of which he has not yet recovered. Also Wilson, Ballard A. C., and Charlestown, Rainier Valley A. C., have been switched about, the former being now listed to meet J. Heady, J. B. A. A. in the 168-lb class, and the latter to meet Bert Dowley, J. B. A. A., in the heavy-weight class.

Billy Hall has asked to be excused from acting as one of the judges to-night and a Seattle man, coming over with the boxers, will take his place.

stantly rushing in it is nothing in his favor. That seems plain. This is probably the explanation of the different decisions always rendered after one of Knockout Brown's fights. He is always rushing in a swinging, apparently satisfied if his blows land anywhere. Against a clever boy, not many in a dozen of these wild swings will land.

This is a good thing in a way as there will be no chance for the visiting boxers to say that favoritism was shown.

Undoubtedly one of the features of to-night's tournament will be the bout between Dowley and Charlestown, while another will be, of course, the exhibition between Bayley and Knockton. However, there is really no sense in discriminating as everyone of the mills should be well worth watching.

There promises to be as large attendance as ever an entertainment of the kind attracted in Victoria. A big advance sale of seats has been announced. The crowd will not be restricted entirely to the male sex, for a number of ladies are known to be going to attend. The first bout will be started sharply at 8 o'clock.

AMATEUR STARS CLASH TO-MORROW

LOCAL HOCKEY TEAM IS STILL CONFIDENT

Special Features of Entertainment—Don Smith Leaves for Home Town

To-morrow night the amateur all-stars of Vancouver and Victoria come together at the local Arena, and a good game of hockey should ensue. The local boys have been training steadily and are confident of their ability to overcome the lead gained by the Terminal City hockeysticks last Monday when the latter scored two goals to Victoria's none. The team to represent Victoria will be the same as that which played at Vancouver last Monday with the exception that Curley Corbett will be at cover point.

Two very special features of the entertainment will be the ladies' four-lap race and waltzing competition. A fair number of entries have been received for both of these, and if there is anything certain upon, above or below the earth, it is that the expertise of those entered will make some of the men who think that they are the only real things when it comes to skating sit up and take notice.

Don Smith, Off.

Don Smith, who played centre for the Victoria hockey team, left for the east yesterday. Don intended to stay around for a while, but when he heard that Tommy Dundee was going over to Vancouver to practice for the all-star games he got homesick immediately. Don's home is in Cornwall, Ontario, but before reporting there like a dutiful son he will take in New York

Joe Bayley's chief desire now is to meet Pat Scott, of Seattle, again. Scott and his manager, Dan Salt, claim that the referee's decision in the fight at Prince Rupert recently, when the boys fought twenty rounds to a draw, was not right, and that Scott should have been declared the winner. This makes Joe hot under the collar, and he says that if he ever enters the big ring against Scott again with two hands he'll show him up for fair.

Joe arrived back in town the other day determined not to enter into any further engagement until his right mit is thoroughly healed, which will mean a stay of a couple of months anyway.

He states that there is nothing definite in the report that he is to meet "One Round" Hogan, of California, but thinks that the match may be arranged. His manager, Harry Bernard, left for Frisco two or three days ago to see if he couldn't fix things up for Joe to make his debut into better company.

CRICKET

WHY DON'T PUBLIC SCHOOLS TAKE MORE INTEREST IN CRICKET?

Because the park board, school board and teachers take little or no interest in cricket, the public schools are experiencing considerable difficulty in securing cricket teams. The park board say they are willing enough to act and so say the school board and teachers. Then why is not a space set aside, in the North Ward park for example, where the school can practice? Why do not the school board provide one double net? And why do not the teachers assist the scholars in attaining these and other necessary accessories? The fact is that with some encouragement both Central and High schools would enter teams for the Gillette Shield, but there is a decided lack of encouragement. Even the Collegiate school with about four boys over fourteen years of age, all the rest under, find plenty of material for an eleven, and play each year against the University school. If private schools cannot afford to overlook cricket why is it that public schools can?

Wilfrid Doughty and Party
leaves for Queen Charlotte
—Ready Soon

To complete the survey of some 200 acres of crown grant land at Alford Bay on the south side of Skidegate inlet, where the first of the great Doughty fishing enterprises is to be started, Wilfrid Doughty, accompanied by J. H. Pillsbury, civil engineer, and a party of surveyors, has left Prince Rupert for the Queen Charlotte Islands. They will remain there for some time until all final arrangements have been made for the construction of the plant, the material for which is to be taken north on the steamer Prince Albert, now in port.

The plant at Alford Bay is to comprise a cannery, salting plant and fish meal works. At Skidegate on half a mile of water frontage there will be established a fish oil works. When the plant is placed in operation 100 men will be employed, and this number will be increased as the work warrants. It is expected that the new Alford cannery will be ready in about four or five months time. The accident to the Prince Albert is delaying the shipment of the lumber, but no doubt she will arrive there by the time the material is required for the construction work.

It is understood that the British Columbia Fisheries, Ltd., will expend this year in developing the fisheries of the province about a quarter of a million dollars. Next season further developments will be planned and it is the intention of the company to operate on a most extensive scale. Other canneries are to be built on the Queen Charlotte Islands and no doubt other sections of the province will fall under the eye of the large concern. Backing the company is a large amount of English capital, and some of the most prominent shipbuilders and fishing magnates of the Old Land are interested.

BRITISH STEAMER DAMAGED.

Boren Ogilvy Strikes Barge at Hamberg-Strathgarry in Collision
With Barque.

Two British steamers which have brought sugar to Vancouver figure in the latest casualty list, although the damage is slight. The British steamer Baron Orgby, while at Hamburg to load for Philadelphia, was in collision on March 4 with a barge. The steamer arrived at the Terminal City on April 1, 1912, with sugar from Java and salted on April 21 for Grays Harbor.

The British steamer Strathgarry is at Newcastle, Australia, reporting a collision with the Norwegian steamer Birka Burn from Montevideo. Again the damage was slight. The Strathgarry was at Vancouver last July with sugar from Java and salted on August 10.

This Food-Tonic Quickly Restores Strength

After a siege of Pneumonia, Diphteria, Typhoid or any other prostrating disease, there is usually a need for some other source of strength besides ordinary food.

NA-DRU-CO Tasteless Cod Liver Oil Compound

meets this need perfectly. While decidedly pleasant to the taste, without a trace of the nauseating properties of plain cod liver oil, it embodies the well-known nutritive and curative elements that have made cod liver oil famous. To these have been added Hypophosphites to build up the nerves—Extract of Wild Cherry to act on the lungs and bronchial tubes—and Extract of Malt, which, besides containing valuable nutriment itself, helps the weakened digestive organs to assimilate other foods.

For run-down children there is no better "builder-up".

NEWS OF THE SEVEN SEAS

MAKING SIX TRIPS TO TACOMA A WEEK

SCHEDULE MAPPED OUT AT MEETING YESTERDAY

Round Trip to Tacoma, $3.35 —Iroquois to Run for While —Princess Later

Arrangements for placing the steamer Iroquois on a daily service between Tacoma and Victoria were completed yesterday at a meeting held at Tacoma by the Commercial Club and Chamber of Commerce, attended by officials of the C. P. R. steamship lines and members of the club. The service will begin May 1. On the schedule planned the Iroquois will leave Tacoma daily at 8:30 p. m., arriving at Victoria at 8: a. m., making connection here with a Princess steamer for Vancouver at 8: a. m. Returning, the Iroquois will leave Victoria at 8:30 a. m. and arrive at Tacoma at 3:30 p. m.

The service will be maintained six days a week, the steamer lying over one day at Tacoma. Plans for the Tacoma-Victoria service have been under way for three months, and several conferences between officials of the C. P. R. and members of the Commercial Club and Chamber of Commerce have been held. At yesterday's conference, when the arrangements were completed, the owners of the Iroquois, the Puget Sound Navigation Company, were represented by their president, Joshua Green; H. W. Brodie, general passenger agent of the C. P. R.; and Captain J. W. Troup, superintendent of the B. C. Coast Service, were also in attendance. The service will begin at 8:30 p. m. May 1, and if it proves a success will ultimately be put on the run.

The schedule of passenger fares announced by the company is as follows: To Victoria, $2.35; to Vancouver, $3.35; to Victoria and return, $3.50; to Vancouver and return, $5.50.

As the Iroquois will carry freight as well as passengers from Tacoma to Victoria, arrangements are being made for warehouse facilities at the Sound port. As the Iroquois is an American vessel, a stop of 30 minutes will be made at Seattle each way. The commercial travellers will have the advantage of reaching Victoria early in the morning and the tourists who desire the daylight trip from Victoria will find the return schedule attractive.

SOME DAYS BEFORE SHIP ENTERS DOCK

Hazel Dollar Cannot Get in Owing to Lillooet Being on Stocks

Contrary to announcements made yesterday the big steamship Hazel Dollar, Capt. Gow, was not floated into drydock to-day, and it is doubtful if she will be able to get in for several days yet. It was expected that the Lillooet, which was on the stocks when the freighter returned to port, would have to be floated out to make way for the injured vessel. Things, however, have not turned out as anticipated, and this morning it was impossible to learn what course is to be taken in repairing the ship.

The Hazel has moved alongside the B. C. Marine wharf at Esquimalt and yesterday workmen were engaged in removing the rudder. Owing to the great weight of the damaged part of the steamer the "feet-legs" had to be used in lifting it. It was stated this morning that the Hazel Dollar would not be docked without removing any of her cargo, as was previously announced. Much of the lumber will have to be lightered and this work will be done while the vessel is waiting her turn to get into the dock.

It will be early next week before the steamship Ocean Monarch, Capt. McCann, leaves this port for Vancouver. Owing to the fact that the vessel is old her facilities for handling cargo are not of the best, and the stevedores are unable to make good time in getting the rails out of her. She has about 3,600 pieces of steel to discharge and she has unloaded but 1,600 since she arrived on Wednesday. Besides the rails the Monarch has several hundred tons of freight to land here.

The rails consigned to Victoria are for the B. C. Electric and will be used in extending the lines of the company. She has an equal amount of steel rails for Vancouver.

ANOTHER WHALER LAUNCHED.

Seattle, March 29.—Star III, the second of the United States Whaling Co.'s fleet, was launched at the yards of the Seattle Drydock & Construction Co. Wednesday morning. The vessel is a sister ship to the whaler Star II, which was launched at the same yards last Thursday. Star III was christened by Mrs. E. Abrahamsen, wife of the manager of the United States Whaling Co. The vessel will be operated in Alaska waters with Port Armstrong, Baranof Island, as her base. Star I, the third vessel for the United States Whaling Co.'s fleet, is well under-way and will be launched in about ten days.

MARINE NOTES

Preparations are already under way toward having the steamers of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company and the big freighters of the American-Hawaiian line arrange their tariffs to apply to North Vancouver, according to information received yesterday. An official of the Vancouver-Tacoma Shipping company, whose vessels will make the northern side of the inlet a port of call, is taking the matter up with the officials of the big shipping concerns.

With a large cargo of cannery supplies and general freight for the Prince of Wales Island cannery ports, the steamship Dirigo, of the Alaskan Steamship Company, which has undergone extensive alterations, will sail from Seattle on Saturday, in command of Capt. Jerry Flynn, who has been a pilot in the service of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company.

Capt. Thomas Moore, master of the steamship Seward, of the Alaska Steamship Company, will be master of the steamship Mariposa when she sails for the north on her maiden voyage in April. He has been succeeded on the Seward by Capt. C. J. O'Brien, master of the Latouche.

White en route for Vancouver from Seattle Wednesday the steamer Morning Star, was compelled to make her way to the Terminal City slowly by operating two cylinders, the third cylinder head having blown out shortly after she left Seattle.

Bound for Prince Rupert and Queen Charlotte Island ports, the C. P. R. steamer Princess Beatrice, Capt. Locke, will leave to-night. She is taking out a number of passengers together with a good cargo of freight.

Carrying a large number of passengers and some freight the Boscowitz steamer Vadso, Capt. Noel, sailed from here last night for northern British Columbia ports.

The Umatilla, of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, which should have docked last night from San Francisco, did not arrive until 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The steamer Celtic was in port yesterday loading muriatic acid for River's Inlet and Skeena canneries. She also had aboard a large shipment of box shooks.

With a valuable cargo the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Kamakura Maru sailed from Yokohama for Victoria Wednesdays. She is expected in port about April 11.

Liberals Made a Good Run Here

They Won Places in One of the Wards

And Polled Largely in Two Others—Premier Very Angry at Losing Newcastle

The election caused scarcely a ripple on the surface of Victoria's social and commercial life yesterday. It was one of the quietest contests ever held in the city and, as one well-known observer put it, "It's like voting on a by-law." Everybody knew the government would be returned and the only interest manifested was with regard to the chances of an opposition member being elected.

The Liberals expected that there would be a larger splitting of votes than proved to be the case, basing their expectations on the belief that the Victoria public desired to see an opposition in the House. If such a desire existed to any extent, which is much to be doubted, it was easily overwhelmed by the rosee prospects conjured up by the government's railway programme.

Messrs. Brewster and Elliott polled exceptionally large votes in the circumstances. They had no paid organization, and fought against one of the most formidable political machines that ever existed in Canada. They made their fight entirely upon principle and came out of the contest with the respect and admiration of even those who opposed them. In Ward Three they defeated both Messrs. Davey and Behnson. In Ward Two Mr. Brewster won out over Behnson and in Ward One they made a particularly good run. In Wards Four and Five true-blue Tory districts, they fell sadly behind. Polling was slow, except in Wards Two and Five, up to 5 o'clock, after which the workingmen's votes began to come in, and from that time until 7 o'clock the poll clerks were kept unusually busy.

After the returns had been counted and the results announced the victors had the usual torch-light procession through the streets, ultimately winding up in front of the Colonist building, where the Premier delivered an

LOCAL YACHTSMAN IN CLASSIC EVENT

SCHOONER NATOOSA TO RACE ACROSS OCEAN

Competes Against the Finest Yachts on Coast in Run From California to Honolulu

A letter from Commodore Wood of the South Coast Yacht Club of California, who is taking charge of the arrangements for the yacht race from San Pedro, Calif., to Honolulu, states that as yet seven yachts have been entered in the race, which will start from San Pedro on June 11. There is only one British Columbia entry, the schooner Natoosa, owned by Capt. E. P. Ashe, of this city. The Natoosa will fly the colors of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club.

"I am greatly pleased with the entries received so far," writes Commodore Wood, "and I am confident that this year's race will eclipse all former events, which have been sailed over the same course."

There is keen rivalry between the San Pedro and San Francisco yacht clubs, and, according to Commodore Wood, A. E. Lurline, captain of the Lurline, the winner of the last two races, is willing to wager $10,000 that his yacht will reach Honolulu ahead of the San Francisco entry.

The yachts entered are: Schooner Lurline, A. E. Davis, San Diego Yacht Club; Schooner Seafarer, L. A. Norris, San Francisco Yacht Club; Schooner Sweetheart, Baron Long, Corinthian Yacht Club; Schooner Marian, E. A. Van Bergen, Corinthian Yacht Club; Schooner Gwendolyn, W. H. Stroud, Honolulu Yacht Club; Schooner Natoosa, E. P. Ashe, Royal Victoria Yacht Club; Schooner Gwendolyn, D. F. E. O'Connor, Seattle Yacht Club.

The race is held biennially under the joint auspices of the South Coast Yacht Club and the Honolulu Yacht Club.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By Ruth Cameron

In a little town in Connecticut, two old people have just celebrated the 77th anniversary of their wedding. The man is 99, the woman 97.

"I have always thought," says the old benedict when asked his recipe for marital felicity, "that young married folks would have fewer quarrels if they followed the rules mother and I laid down for ourselves." These are the rules:

"Remember, each has rights the other should respect.

"Do your share of the work without boasting.

"Forget the gloomy things and discuss and think of the powerful things of life.

"LET THE BETTER MANAGER WHETHER THE MAN OR THE WOMAN, BE THE CASHIER OF THE HOUSEHOLD.

"DO NOT SPEAK DISPARAGINGLY OF YOUR LIFE PARTNER'S FAMILY.

"Do not say you are boss; think so if you wish, but keep it to yourself.

"WHEN YOU ARE PEEVISH GO OUT OF DOORS; do anything to forget it, only do not fret your partner.

"In a word let the cog sleep in the best chair, if that is the only way to preserve harmony."

I have written three of these rules in case because, while all of the suggestions are excellent, these are the ones I especially wanted to endorse.

The question as to whether the husband or the wife should have charge of the family purse strings is often agitated. Some maintain that the husband, as the provider, should handle all the money. Others hold that the wife, as the buyer, should have the cash turned over to her. Both methods have proved successful and both have failed. I think the old folks have exactly the right idea. Some people naturally are capable of planning and saving and spending wisely. Others are not. The best planner, whether husband or wife, should certainly be the financial manager.

"Do not speak disparagingly of your life partner's family" is a gem. I know one family where the husband and wife seem to love each other dearly, and yet neither ever misses a chance to hurt the other by a slap, his family.

His sister's penuriousness, her brother's improvidence, his father's bad temper, her nephew's gambling tendencies—these are subjects which are continually dragged into the conversation to the distinct detriment of family harmony.

After a quarrel, resulting from one of these unkind allusions on the part of the wife, she and I talked the matter over. Said she: "But everything I said about his father was true—and he knows it." What if it were true? That didn't prevent him from resenting her dragging it into the conversation. I do not like a man who will let his wife needlessly abuse his father or mother, or a woman who permits that from her husband. It isn't loyal. If there were ever a sleeping dog that's well to let lie, it's this subject of your partner's family.

But the best of all these good rules to me is the sixth. "When you are peevish go out of doors."

There is no balm for a fretful, restless spirit half so potent as going out of doors, seeking your friends, talking to them and getting your mind off yourself.

There is no cure for a grievance or a quarrel half so sure as a brisk walk.

Elizabeth Browning's little verse about losing one's troubles, trials and tribulations "out in the field with God," ought to be known by every home.

The bromidic picture of the lonely, ill-kept home from which the wife has gone forth to occupy herself with outside interests, is no sadder to me than the picture of the prison home from which the wife seldom steps out—except to shake her tablecloth—more than once a week. Any woman who makes a habit of staying cooped up in a house three and four days at a time is preparing for a sanitarium or a divorce court.

Of course, no one could obey all these rules all of the time. It is doubtful if their promulgators did. But to any couple who will obey all of these rules some of the time, and some of them all the time, I fancy happiness will be a pretty steady companion.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S FINANCES

St. John's, Nfld., March 29.—That Newfoundland is passing through a period of unequalled prosperity is indicated by the budget presented to the legislature. The fiscal year, ended last June, showed a surplus of $170,000 and the present year will equal if not exceed that.

In the matter of import and export trade, there is an increase of more than $50,000. The customs revenue for the past eight months exceeded the same period last year by $150,000.

These figures indicate the largest normal increase in the history of the colony.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

German Soldier Shoots Officer and Ends Own Life.

Berlin, March 29.—A double military tragedy, alleged to be the result of the brutality of an officer, occurred at Osterode, East Prussia, to-day, when Private Eynersleben of the 188th Infantry shot and killed Captain Reisch and then committed suicide.

Pooley Triumphs in Esquimalt

RESULT OF NOTABLE THREE-CORNERED FIGHT

Convention Nominee Won Easily, His Opponents Losing Deposits—Exit Jardine

The constituency of Esquimalt had the distinction of providing the most novel and interesting spectacle of the whole provincial fight. Three Conservative candidates were in the field, and they were more concerned in encompassing one another's humiliation and defeat than in laying low the Liberal standard-bearer.

When the convention was held at Colwood, R. H. Pooley, defeated candidate for nomination at the convention of 1908, was selected as the Conservative champion. H. D. Helmcken, his rival, condemned the whole proceedings as a put-up-job and decided to run away. In the meantime John Jardine, whose political convictions were notoriously multi-colored, announced his candidature "off his own bat" through the columns of the Colonist. Mr. Pooley wired the premier at Kaslo and Mr. McBride sent him a message endorsing him at the regular nominee of the convention.

In doing so he came into conflict with the Colonist, which throughout the Esquimalt situation acted with inexplicable eccentricity. It endorsed Jardine and advised the electorate to turn Pooley down. It attacked him because the legal firm with which he is connected were solicitors for the Esquimalt Waterworks Company, although it is shrewdly suspected that there were other reasons behind the organ's animus.

The result is a triumphant vindication of Mr. Pooley. All his opponents lost their deposits, Jardine being next to the lowest man on the list, who was Mr. Oliver, Socialist candidate.

As for Jardine his beacon has been forever extinguished, and even the journal which supported him refuses to do him reverence or pay him the tribute of a solitary tear. The unofficial returns for Esquimalt were:

	Jardine	Helmcken	Pooley	Jackson	Oliver

PRESIDENTIAL RACES.

There are at present about a dozen aspirants for the presidency who seek to gain the nomination of their constituents that the prosperity and happiness of the nation depends upon their individual nomination and election. As only eight men can ordinarily fill this office in a generation, most of these men are doomed to disappointment.

History does not show us that the attainment of the supreme office has ever carried with it a due measure of satisfaction or even success. It has more often proved one of the failures of success—due to the want of an enormous fortune in the campaign, accompanied usually by an unscrupulous and unprincipled character.

As the chief magistracy of a nation, one becomes its slave, as he must relinquish his individuality at the command of constituents. This office is one in which there is no domestic privacy, and mental pliability and physical comfort bring the two factors which make most for happiness, they are rarely found save far from the madding crowd.

There is the obligation to keep countenances, review Sunday school parades, entertain and be entertained by people of no possible interest.

Even travel brings no cessation of the duties of a president, since he must be aroused at all hours to make speeches from car platforms, clad in pajama-ulster combination costume, "cram" information concerning events and places in order to address audiences on occasions of particular consequence. He cannot make complimentary addresses to foreign diplomats which they cannot understand, and listen to long speeches in a language he does not know. He is constantly trailed by secret service men and camera men, photographed in ridiculous situations, reported when visiting the doctor or dentist, or any and all of the minor incidents of life. The public is at liberty to saunter through his habitation, and he is pestered by an army of servants within, and a cordon of police without. The obligation to make himself available for all kinds of leather shoes and a perpetual smile would certainly tempt the average man to resignation, flight, or suicide.

FORMER SPEAKER OF HOUSE PASSES

HON. C. E. POOLEY DIES
AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Was Twice Speaker of Local Legislature and Member of Three Cabinets

The serious illness of the former Speaker of the legislature, Charles Edward Pooley, K.C., head of the legal firm of Pooley, Luxton & Pooley, of this city, terminated with his peaceful end at his residence, Fernhill, Esquimalt road, last evening, after a long illness, the seriousness of which had been recognized for some days.

His death coincided with the return for his old constituency of his son, R. H. Pooley, a member of the same legal firm as his father.

Mr. Pooley, who was born in Huntingdonshire in 1845, was educated at the Huntingdon and Bedford grammar schools, and coming to this country in 1863, entered the public service. In 1873 he was gazetted as registrar-general of the Supreme Court, and held office for some years, during which time he travelled over the province with the judges on circuit.

After a visit to England he was called to the bar, and became a bENCHER seven years later. In 1887 he received his appointment as Q. C.

He soon commenced to take an active part in public life, and was elected in 1882 to the legislature for Esquimalt, after a contested election in which the court supported him over the then attorney-general, Hon. J. R. Hett, and Mr. Pooley was declared elected. He thus commenced his long association with the constituency where he resided, and which was not broken till 1907. In 1887 he was chosen to follow J. A. Mara in the chair, although for the first time in the history of the province the nomination was then opposed by Mr. Beaven, who complained of the partiality on the part of Mr. Pooley. As events happened, the Speaker proved an admirable representative of the dignity and impartiality associated with the chair, and had established his reputation by the time the cabinet was reconstructed after the death of Hon. A. E. B. Davie. The Hon. John Robson formed a ministry in August, 1889, in which he appointed Mr. Pooley as president of the council, and accordingly, when the House met in January the president relinquished the chair to his colleague in the representation of Esquimalt, D. W. Higgins, former proprietor of the Colonist.

Mr. Pooley continued to be president of the council through the Robson

Theodore Davie and Turner ministries, the last named administration being relieved of office in 1898, when his association with a seat in the cabinet finally terminated.

He, however, continued to sit for Esquimalt after the second member was taken away from the suburban constituency and in 1902 returned to the chair of the assembly, after an interval of a dozen years. The confidence of the members of the assembly in their old Speaker was more than justified, and in the trying times of the discussions of the legislature in company. This was an important factor in the contest which his son has been engaged in waging in the Esquimalt district.

Mr. Pooley was married in 1869 to Elizabeth, only daughter of William Fisher, once member for Esquimalt in the local House. He is survived by a large family, one daughter being the wife of Hon. Victor A. Stanley, M.V.O., a brother of the present Earl of Derby, whose wedding at St. Paul's, Esquimalt, was one of the social events of November, 1896, and another son Lieut. Thomas Pooley, was in Strath-

FAVOR CHURCH UNION.

Vancouver, March 29.—Some seventeen Methodist and about twice as many Presbyterian churches in the suburban municipalities in North Vancouver and in New Westminster, are voting on church union this month, and the result is, on an average, overwhelmingly in favor of union.

"The official boards of the Methodist churches have almost all sent in the result of their voting to district headquarters," said Rev. Mr. Sanford, chairman of the church extension committee, "and these officials have expressed themselves as notably in favor of union. The members of the church are now voting on the question, and their opinion will be made known at the district conference to be held in April. From conversations with other ministers, I may say, however, that there is little doubt as to the outcome of the election.

"The majority of the churches in the Westminster Presbytery are voting in favor of union," said Dr. Peter Wright, moderator of the presbytery. "All the results have not been received so far, but it appears to me as though the aggregate vote will be much in favor of union. Some of the churches are voting about four-fifths in favor of the proposal, while others are giving a bare majority."

PAVING WORKSARE ADVANCING*NEW MIXERS ARE DUE
TO ARRIVE NEXT WEEK*Attention to Be Given to Quadra Street—Progress of Work on Hillside Ave.*The settled weather of the last few weeks has enabled the paving companies to go ahead with the work, and while the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company has been concentrating on Menzies and Niagara streets with one mixer, and on Superior street, the arrival of the two mixers from Vancouver, which the company ordered recently, and which are expected next week, will enable work to progress more rapidly, particularly with regard to the North Quadra street paving, which it is understood will be the scene of the new mixers' operations.*Most of the underground work on Hillside avenue has been completed, and with the progress on the expropriation proceedings on this street it has been possible to set back some of the fences and determine what the street will be like after the improvement. However, as there is to be a double car track on this street, it is not expected that it will be in decent condition till late in the fall. On that portion of Quadra north of Hillside, where a permanent paving is to be shortly laid, the street badly wants attention, as at the present time there is not a single decent approach into the city by road from Saanich.*Work is also going forward in Victoria West, and the fourth centre upon which efforts are to be concentrated by the Mineral Rubber Company is the Fairfield road between Cook and Moss streets. The resurfacing of Kingston street is being undertaken to-day, and work is in progress at that time.*There had been a mixer on curb and gutter work for some time, and with the supplementary assistance of the new mixers considerable progress is being made. The city construction department is keeping well ahead with the underground work. Given good weather there is no reason why there should not be a great change in the condition of the pavements throughout the city before the summer is far advanced.*The Dominion government is setting back the fence line of the Clover Point battery property, and this will facilitate the improvement of the Dallas road at this point. At present it ends in a sharp angle, and this is to be rounded off to prevent accidents.*Nellie—"Is that fellow of yours ever going to get up the courage to propose?"*Belle—"Guess not. He's like an hour glass."*Nellie—"An hour glass?"*Belle—"Yes, the more time he gets the less sand he has."*Y. M. C. A.

ZION GOSPEL HALL

Passing of a Landmark on Pandora Avenue—Site Will Be Occupied by Stores.

The old Gospel hall on Pandora avenue is soon to be a memory. Its last usefulness as a Labor hall terminated but a few weeks ago, and now its evacuation is the prelude to being given into the hands of the carpenters to remove.

A group of three stores is to be constructed on the site by the owner of the property, H. J. Saunders, and for these a permit was granted this morning, to be constructed by the Woodworkers, Ltd., and Durhams from the plans of Breseman & Durfee. The new building will be of brick, of one storey, and the structure will cost $12,000.

This will remove one of the many edifices for religious worship which have been erected in the immediate vicinity, two more of which are likely to disappear in the immediate future with the widening of Pandora avenue, and its transition to a business thoroughfare, namely the First Presbyterian and Congregational churches.

Ottawa, March 23.—Something of a sensation has been caused in government circles by the proffered resignations of C. B. Ballantyne and L. F. Gendron of the Montreal harbor commission. This step is taken as a protest against the appointment of any man not fully qualified as harbormaster. French members of this district urged the appointment of Capt. COL. SAM HUGHES FORCED TO FIGHT

SUBJECTED TO EVERY KNOWN KIND OF ATTACK

Caretakers, Autos, and the Cadet-Recruiting Scheme Under Fire

(H. F. G. in Toronto Globe)

Ottawa, March 22.—In the old days Sir Frederick Borden's militia estimates went through with a smile and a shrug and Col. Sam Hughes, a friendly critic, nodded Aye, Aye. The House still seems to regard the militia estimates as a big, expensive, grim sort of joke, but this new opposition has a different sense of humor. Colonel the Honorable Sam has to fight to put things over. The Jigadier Brindilles behind Sir Wilfrid Laurier are on Colonel Sam's back all the time.

While he was under fire Colonel the Honorable Sam had to meet every known kind of attack, frontal, flank movements, feints, reconnaissances in force, sniping, volley firing, and canonnading. They shot at him from every position, lying down, standing up, and on their backs. Wilcox of North Essex, capped it all by standing on his head and shooting point-blank, at three paces, from the rear, Colonel the Honorable Sam, his own leader, in the lumber regions, or thereabouts.

Colonel the Honorable Sam survived all wounds, whether in front or behind, and though sometimes driven into last ditch arguments, made a gallant defence and never once lost his temper. And, as everybody knows, he that conquereth his own heart is greater than he that taketh a city.

Carvell Was Brigadier.

It was Carvell, of New Brunswick, that started the fun. Carvell must have been a colonel himself, at some time or other. At any rate he knows his book. Carvell did the bombing. Macdonald, of Pictou, acted as the cavalry in reserve. Nesbitt, Lemieux, Eland, Kay, Verville, Clark, Boyer, Chisholm, Edwards, Pugsley, McCrea, Tobin, and Emerson, did valuable scouting and guerrilla work and are hereby mentioned in the dispatches.

Caretakers Must Not Be Combatants.

Let us see how the minister of militia conducted his battle and what, as little Peterkin would say, the war was all about. The first line of attack was caretakers. Carvell wanted to know why, if Colonel the Honorable Sam was going to be as careful of the morals of the militia as the statements in his pamphlet indicated, he had fired a veteran of many wars from the caretakership of the armory at Woodstock, N.B., and appointed in his place a turn-seller. There was a sharp interchange of musketry on this subject in which these facts were uncovered. The caretaker was a Grit and had taught Grit politics before the election to the young ideas who were learning to shoot. In future Tory caretakers will be employed unless a Grit caretaker is so much better that he makes the other look like thirty cents. This system will be followed right to the top. Other things being equal, Tory courage and Tory generalship will lead our armies, wear our gold lace, and take care of our drill sheds. Promotions in the service will not be on the basis of age, but if the ruthless invader ever sets foot on our sacred soil Grit voters will be cheerfully called out and given front places in the firing line. So far as dying for one's country is concerned Colonel the Honorable Sam is not going to favor his own party at the expense of the Grits.

Colonel the Honorable Sam is going to spend $10,000 in cadet camps this summer. Under the eye of the parson and the schoolmaster, and other good influences, 40,000 boys are to camp in their local centres and get the benefit of a positive training, that will build up body and character, teach them discipline and rational obedience — you'll find it all in Colonel's pamphlet — prevent them drinking, and smoking cigarettes, and prepare them as Carvell says, to go sweeping through the pearly gates at almost any minute.

Colonel the Honorable Sam's experience does not clash with the Stratton Fund of $500,000 for physical drill in the public schools, nor with the Boy Scouts movement.

On the contrary, it has a kindly eye on both.

Colonel the Honorable Sam hopes to take them all under the wing of the militia department, though he doesn't intend to mix them up with the militia.

The cadets are just a side-line — raw material to be worked up.

In fact, the only juvenile movement that Colonel the Honorable Sam's dreams do not embrace is the Girl Guides, who can hardly be expected to fit in until women suffrage gives them man's rights and man's dangers. Colonel the Honorable Sam protests that there is no militarism in this cadet business although he does admit that cadeting is going to make better soldiers of them, if soldiering be their bent. It which connection he recalls that the Battle of Alma was won by boys under seventeen years of age. Would it be a rash guess to say that the cadet camps squint at recruiting for the militia? The gist of Colonel the Honorable Sam's remarks on the subject is that physical training has a moral reaction which will keep the boys from committing crimes by training them to commit murder. One phase of the educational movement appears to have been overlooked. Although discussion ranged wide, no mention was made of the lectures on military subjects in the colleges and universities. The Militia Department also smiles on this line of endeavor, which aims to give bloodshed an intellectual standing.

A Battle of Automobiles.

The battle raged fiercest around Col. the Honorable Sam's twelve automobiles for D. O. C.'s Col. Sam promises to get 24 of them next year. This is a rapid age, and automobiles are the only way to keep abreast of it. As Ham Burnham, peace prophet, rose-water philosopher and friend of old age, pointed out in his own lucid manner, if ancient Rome had had automobiles in her army, she would not have fallen, and so would have been two thousand years ahead of what we are now, instead of being two thousand years behind. Only heaven and Ham Burnham know what Ham Burnham means, so you will have to figure it out for yourself. The point is that Ham Burnham is with Colonel the Honorable Sam in regarding automobiles as a first line of defence.

Colonel the Honorable Sam had the hardest fight of the night standing up for his automobiles. The opposition simply couldn't see, if automobile traveling costs 50 per cent, more than rail or water traveling, how the militia department could pay $22 each for 12 automobiles, throw them into the scrap heap at the end of the year, and then save money. Colonel the Honorable Sam explained that they saved time and time is money. What about chauffeurs, Macdonald of Pictou wanted to know. Oh, the D. O. C.'s orderly would tend to that job, Carvell said he had yet to see the D. O. C. who worked more than ten hours a day. He complained that the country was so full of generals and colonels that he was always tripping over them. He objected to adding to their panoply of pride by giving them automobiles to swell around in and take joy rides. Verville surmised that the automobiles might be given to the generals so that they could run away before the butchering began—an automobile being much faster than the fastest Arab steed.

But it was Wilcox of North Essex who dealt the cruellest stroke. Gruchy did a cruel thing when he failed to help Napoleon at Waterloo. But Wilcox did a crueler. He stung his general in the rear. He bit him in the leg. Wilcox is what you might call a local politician. In fact you might call him the localiest politician you ever saw in the House of Commons. His mind is absolutely bounded by the boundaries of North Essex. He loves North Essex as he loves himself. Wilcox is a Conservative, but he doesn't look on that as any reason why Colonel the Honorable Sam should spread himself over North Essex and order automobiles from Grit automobile firms without consulting him. The ground he takes is that not to consult him is to insult him, and the rule applied to cabinet ministers just as much as to anybody else who has automobiles to buy or patronage to distribute. As the representative of the free people of North Essex, Wilcox insists on having his look in on everything. Wilcox produced letters from Walkerville, the place where the whiskey comes from, setting forth the fact that the automobile company was run by Grits. Wilcox had evidently been reading these letters closely, for he was full of the subject. At any rate he didn't want Colonel the Honorable Sam to be making automobile purchases over his head, and he made no bones of saying so. Of course Wilcox didn't want any commission, but he did say to Colonel Sam, "Can't you put in a good word for me with that concern?" which Colonel the Honorable Sam did, but it didn't make Wilcox any the less sore. Hansard has it all down. Wilcox's name will go down to posterity as Colonel Sam's chief knocker in the Battle of the Twelve Automobiles. But the automobile item passed just the same.

Colonel the Honorable Sam is a brave man. But there are two or three other possible ministers of militia in the rear ranks—not to mention Wilcox. He must be on his guard against shots from behind.

The foregoing remarks were made by a gentleman from the U. S. A. He at first remarked that we could not sell him a suit because Canada could not produce clothes like the States.

WILL CATER FOR TOURIST TRAFFIC
MR. MARPOLE FORECASTS PROGRESS THIS SUMMER

Transfer of Locomotives to Liquid Fuel to Commence in June

The management of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway are making arrangements for the summer traffic on the system, which, in view of the extension from Cameron Lake to Port Alberni having been opened since the last tourist season, is expected to show a material increase in the coming months.

As the railway threads one of the finest scenic routes in Canada in this portion of the line, it may be found possible, R. M. Marpole said this morning, to increase the present train service, and the management have in mind a hope that the traffic will warrant a daily service from Wellington. Mr. Marpole, who is making his first visit to the city for some weeks, having been laid up by a serious illness, is accompanied by H. J. Cambie, special engineer, and only spent a few hours in the city, having to return to Vancouver on the afternoon boat.

In connection with this tourist traffic the chalet at Cameron Lake, is to be opened in May, and although, on a modest scale now, will be extended as the business warrants just as the accommodation of the hotel at Glacier House has been developed as business demands. The fine mountaineering opportunities, and the fishing available from the Cameron lake chalet will make an attractive centre for tourists, and already families are making the district the scene of their annual holidays.

The determination to improve the service and bring travellers to the scenic attractions on the Island has decided the authorities to take a forward movement in this direction, and feeling confident Vancouver Island can afford facilities for the enjoyment of sport unexcelled in a province of remarkable possibilities in this regard, many aids to betterment works are contemplated on the Island's principal railway.

In connection with the transfer of the locomotives from coal to oil burners, adopted as a principle in order to protect the forests through which the track passes from the danger of fire, a site has already been chosen for the storage oil tank at Esquimalt, which is to be supplied from California, and distributed by means of tank locomotives throughout the system. Mr. Marpole thought for the present they would content themselves with the one at Esquimalt, although Nanaimo Bay had been mentioned as another distributing point, as the Esquimalt reservoir could also be used as an emergency supply for the vessels of the B. C. Coast service, whose source of supply at the present time is at Vancouver. The transfer over to oil burning engines will be commenced in June.

The intention at the Esquimalt tank is to store from 35,000 to 40,000 barrels of oil, run in the reservoir from pipes attached to the vessels specially constructed for this work which ply between the California sources of supply, and the North West Pacific ports. The Great Northern Railway's experience, Mr. Marpole said, on the line between Seattle and Vancouver, had been a demonstration close at hand of the efficiency of liquid fuel.

When his intention was drawn to the negotiations over the Five Sisters Block with the Canadian Pacific Railway for office quarters, Mr. Marpole said so far as the C. P. R. was concerned they had withdrawn from the negotiations several weeks ago, and the matter was absolutely at an end.

ANOTHER FUGITIVE HAS SURRENDERED

Member of Allen Clan in Hands of Officers—Three Still at Liberty

Hillsville, Va., March 29. This entire section awaited to-day news from the North Carolina border expecting to hear at any time that what is left of the Allen gang has been taken.

The capture of Claude Swanson Allen, son of Floyd and nephew of Sidna Allen, revived the hope that all of them would be safely behind the bars.

With the detectives promising captures day after day without result, interest has begun to lag, and many people believed the fugitives had made their way out of the mountains, leaving their pursuers in the chase on the mountain sides.

Young Allen's wretched condition when he walked out of the bushes and gave himself up led them to believe that the rest of the gang were in very bad shape. The boy declared he had been living on bread and water.

Sidna and Friel Allen and Wesley Edwards are supposed to be in the immediate vicinity of where Claude was found, in spite of the latter's story that he had been separated from the rest of the party for days.

WILL VISIT PARIS.

London, March 29.—The London Daily Telegraph Paris correspondent states that it is rumored that the Prince of Wales is likely to spend some time in Paris this year as a guest of a French noble family. It adds that the family is one with whom the late King Edward had long been on friendly terms, and with whom the king is also well acquainted.

"The Best Clothes Your Price Affords"

Buy the best clothes you can afford—is offered to young men as sound advice. Sometimes it conveys a temptation to pay more than one can afford. Our idea is perhaps more practical—get a suit or overcoat the best your price will afford. You know of numbers of makes of suits and overcoats at $20, $25 and higher; and of greater numbers of makes at $18, $15 and $12. You realize that they can't be all equally good. There must be a worst and a best, with plenty of half-good between. Think it over. Your money is good and you ought to get value as good for it. Where will you go for your suit or overcoat? J. N. Harvey, Ltd.

REFEREE ESCAPES FROM WRATHFUL MOB

Price Showed His Speed on Hoof After Deciding Against the Public Favorite

Seattle, March 29.—Ben Price's speed on the hoof and his agility as a high jumper saved him from the wrath of a mob of excited fans, who took issue at his decision as referee in the main event at the Greenwood Athletic Club smoker last night.

Price was an easy winner in the Marathon, encouraged by mingled sounds of wrath which reached him from his pursuers, in which the word "referee" was mingled with a choice element of threats.

The occasion was the four-round "go" between Johnny Kelley, undefeated light heavyweight, of Seattle, and Tom Date, challenger. The crowd thought Kelley led all the way, giving his opponent a severe beating.

At the end of the fourth period the audience commenced to leave—the rogues, feeling confident that Kelley had won the fight. When the referee lifted Date's arm, they came back in at uproar. It was then that the impromptu footrace was pulled off. Referee Price was chased to the door, where he jumped down a long flight of stairs with a string of a hundred excited fans after him. He managed to escape.

SPORT NOTES

The excitement of the election yesterday was too much for the soccer men and the meeting of the Morley Cup League executive was postponed until this evening. Referees will be chosen for the different games and the case of the Y. M. C. A. team, which has defaulted two games, considered. There is a possibility that the offending club will be dropped from the league.

Telegrams were received by W. H. Davis this morning from all the outside clubs competing in the boxing tournament this evening, stating that every one of the entries were on their way to Victoria, so that there will be no defaults this time.

Interesting disclosures in connection with the new site for the Victoria Yacht Club will likely be made to-night at the club's annual general meeting to be held in the A. O. U. W. hall, commencing at 8.30.

A sixteen game schedule, eight in Vancouver and the same number in Westminster, will probably be adopted by the British Columbia Lacrosse Association this year. The executives of the two clubs are working out a list.

LOCAL PRO SOCCER TEAM VS. THISTLES

Victoria Out to Show Mainlanders Where They Get Off at

The Victoria professional soccer team travels across to the Mainland tonight to meet the Vancouver Thistles at the Recreation Park. It is almost a foregone conclusion that the local "pros" would defeat the best they have on the Mainland at any time provided they were in their full strength, but the Mainlanders have got to be shown so let the slaughter begin. So say the officials of the Victoria club.

The local team is as follows: Goal, Horner; backs, Newlands and Milligan; halves, Crawford, Wilson, Bayley; forwards, Wilkie, Thomas, Pickering, Muir and Smith. It will be noted that Joe Bayley, the lightweight champion of Canada, is going to get back into the game.

This is what the Vancouver Sun has to say about the game:

"What should just about be the best soccer game of the season is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at Recreation Park, when the Thistles meet the Victoria professional eleven for what can properly be called the provincial championship. Although the Thistles failed to win the district league title, they nevertheless captured the three senior soccer trophies, Imperial, National and Carter-Cotton cups. Manager Fordyce, of the Thistles, has hurled a challenge at the Celts, the league champions, but the latter have declined to play.

Victoria looks up strong as the champions of the Island league, as the close of the season is only a few weeks away. Following the game on Saturday the Victoria team will leave for Nanaimo, where they will play a league fixture with the Nanaimo United team next Sunday, but owing to the league match being scheduled, the fixture has been postponed until April 14.

Manager J. J. Kirby, on behalf of the Recreation Park Amusement Company, has extended an invitation to the ladies and boy scouts to attend the match free of charge.

Here is the way the Thistles will line up:

Swales, goal; Christian and Teed (captains), backs; Park, Irvine, and Butchard, halves; Bell, T. Anderson, Mathews, Sommerville and Doull, forwards.

BURNS AND FRAINE TO-NIGHT.

San Francisco, March 29.—Frankie Burns and Johnny Frayne, two of the best local lightweights now in training, will meet to-night in Dreamland Bink in a scheduled twenty-round fight. Burns is favorite at odds of 110 to 5.

BEE SOUTHPAW SHUTS OUT HEAVY STICKERS

Only Connected Safely With Kantlehner's Curves Three Times—Grindell Catching

San Jose, Cal., March 29.—Kantlehner, the big southpaw college twirler, Whatelet picked up here, pitched shut-out ball for Victoria in a practice game here yesterday with Agnew state hospital team, an aggregation of local amateurs and professionals who play all the year round. He was used nine innings and his hard-hitting opponents only connected safely three times. Two of their hits were of the scratch variety. In the fifth inning the regular Bees, with the exception of Kantlehner, were replaced by the Yannigans.

Friends smashed out a long two-bagger early in the game with three men on the paths.

The score:

Victoria	11	12	0

Of People are Going Daily to OAKHURST

Don't you think you had better see OAKHURST and take advantage of the present prices before they advance. When you see adjacent lots selling at $1,000 you can very readily perceive that in purchasing these lots you are making $350 right on the start. This property is within two miles of the City Hall, cleared, high, overlooking the city, straits, etc., and covered with beautiful large oak trees, and the view is unsurpassed for natural beauty.

There is no other place in this city where you can get such choice lots within the two mile circle at that price. We might fill a page in this paper telling you of all the beauty and advantages of this tract, and if we did this we could not tell you one half of the benefits to be derived. Seeing is believing, and you must see OAKHURST in order to appreciate it.

Among the parties whom we took out to look over OAKHURST on Tuesday was a gentleman from Edmonton who purchased 20 lots. He stated that the people of Victoria did not realize the wonderful opportunities for investment in Victoria suburban property.

When we tell you we are giving you absolutely the best buy in any subdivision in Victoria at the present prices, this should be enough to convince you that it is at least worth your while taking a trip out in one of our automobiles to look over the property. If you do this you will see that we are telling you facts. We consider this property well worth $1,000 a lot to-day and know they are a good buy at that price, but as we have a contract to sell these lots at a lower figure than this we are glad to give the people the benefit.

AN ENTHUSIAST AND HER LABORS

EMINENT THEOSOPHIST VISITING VICTORIA

Tells of Marked Progress Made by Theosophy on This Continent

It is always a matter of infinite pleasure and a theme for self congratulation in this indifferent world, to meet an enthusiast; one who has set before herself a high ideal, and besides keeping it always in view, endeavors to inculcate it into the minds of others.

Of such a type is Mrs. Leeuw, the well known theosophist lecturer, who has been making a short stay in this city, prior to continuing her lecturing tour through Canada and the States. She was born at Haarlem in Holland, and at the age of sixteen went to London, where, in the course of her education she delved deep into the study of philosophy, and it was there she made her first acquaintance with the Theosophical Society and was imbued with its broad catholicism, its tolerance, and the great ideals that it teaches.

At the present time Mrs. Leeuw is working under the wing of two separate and distinct societies. Besides giving addresses for the Theosophical Society, she is working also for the Co-Masonic order which has no connection whatever with the organization before mentioned; though, as a matter of fact, they both are working for one common end and one common good—the universal brotherhood of man.

Mrs. Leeuw gave a Times representative to-day one or two very interesting details about this Co-Masonic order she represents. The idea was first started in Europe and has spread all over the civilized world. Up to the time of its inauguration men and women were working on different sides and even though there was the same end in view, there was no unity. With women being now admitted as Masons, however, things are greatly changed, and part of Mrs. Leeuw's programme was to visit the various lodges in her itinerary, and show the advantages of both pulling together for the benefit of humanity, without friction, without antagonism. The Co-Masonic order has but one doctrine—that all its members should work for the betterment of social conditions, in the building of character. The fact that the Co-Masonic order was so often confused with the Theosophical Society, said Mrs. Leeuw, was no doubt due to the wide-spread knowledge that Mrs. Besant, the leader of the society, first started the order in England. Mrs. Leeuw stated that she had often had the privilege of coming into close personal contact with her revered leader. Asked as to her reception in American cities, the lecturer said that the attitude towards theosophy had entirely changed in the last five years. Then the movement was laughed at, ridiculed in the press, lampooned in every possible manner. On this tour, however, she could truthfully say that every address had been fairly reported in the press, without bias, rancour, or sarcasm. This was a great advance. Everywhere she had gone, the audiences, though not always large, were very responsive, and though the subjects she enlarged upon were not such as to attract the dilettante lecture-goer, yet they always brought together an audience interested in the subject, sceptical perhaps, but eager for more light.

Asked as to what subjects she lectures on, Mrs. Leeuw named three: "The Coming of the World Teacher," "Theosophy and Its General Teaching," Karma (or the law of cause and effect) and "Re-incarnation." These three subjects and their treatment, practically embodied the whole meaning and "raison d'être" of the Theosophical Society, which was not a religious sect or faith, nor did it own a creed—save that it believed absolutely and entirely in the brotherhood of man. "Theosophy," said Mrs. Leeuw, simply, "is a body of truths of fundamental religion, and implies a desire to study and search for truth in its essence. All types can find food in it, because its aim and purpose are the synthesis of all religions, the welding together of all sects, creeds and faiths into one great, united brotherhood, one perfect freemasonry."

The society was first founded in New York in 1875, but its world-wide organization is carried on from the headquarters, which are now situated near Madras, in India.

Mrs. Leeuw has just completed about half of her strenuous mission, and has already lectured throughout the states of New York, Illinois, Kansas, Denver, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho, and after visiting Vancouver to-morrow, she will pass on again into the States, but will possibly visit Victoria on her return.

This is Mrs. Leeuw's first visit to Victoria, and she expresses herself delighted with what she has seen of the city and its environs.

OF THE SAME MIND.

The bishop grasped the purser's arm with a grim ecclesiastical pressure. "I would expect to see you," he began, "that I am very much pleased with my roommate. That is I find him a gentleman in every respect and I wouldn't have you think—er—me coming to speak with him about values—er—er—any reflection upon my son know." His appearance is—or in every way."

"Oh, that's all right," interrupted the purser. "The gentleman has been to me with his own valuables, and he says the same things about you."—Hampton Magazine.

Scotch and English Tweeds, Serges and Cheviots, plain or in modest, neat patterns in the prevailing shades of brown and grey are on hand in numbers. Our salesmen are skilful and courteous. Do not hesitate to decline to buy if you are not pleased.

Spring Shirts in New Styles and Patterns

The tendency among the best makers this Spring is towards small, neat designs on the tasteful background of white. Our stock comprises some of the finest of Tooke's, W. G. & R. and Hagen Shirts in the new effects.

World Famed Hats

All the world knows the name of Christy in connection with Men's Hats. Ask to see our new stock of these to-morrow. The new shapes are particularly pleasing and the charming Fedoras and Telescopes are wonderfully becoming to most men.

For the very conservative dresser we have a full new line of staple shapes.

BUCKLEY, MALLORY and STETSON Hats are also here in wide variety. If you want a Hat this Spring don't pass by this opportunity.

Note to Careful Shoppers

We have some odd lines left from the McCandless stock and these will be cleared to-morrow at unheard of prices. Come early for a chance at these if you want to make your money buy more than ever before.

VANCOUVER ASSIZES.

Vancouver, March 29.—The calendar for the spring assizes which will be opened on April 9 in Vancouver will be a heavy one according to present indications. The full list is not yet prepared, as many additions are to come from the North.

The list includes the following: Samuel McCorkell, shooting with intent; Hex vs. Raftery, bigamy; Roy Alexander, attempt to murder; Wilson, manslaughter; Bert Kinney, attempted murder; D. Halben, sending threatening letters; John Danik, wounding; Greenwood, shooting with intent; and William Snowden, murder.

Snowden it will be remembered is the Porcher island rancher who is charged with having murdered Mr. Urquhart in his liquor store on Cordova street. McCorkell's offence is the alleged shooting of J. C. McDonald in the bar of the Commercial hotel. Roy Alexander is charged with the attempted murder of a palmist named Princess Oiga. Bert Kinney is the man arrested following the attack on the Crown bank at Central park, when he is said to have wounded the teller, Oswald Graham Bibbs. Danik is the Italian who is said to have stabbed John Anderson at a dance at Christmas time in a fit of jealousy.

A. HAGGART MAY GET POST.

Winnipeg, March 29.—Political rumors say that Alex. Haggart, K.C., who resigned his federal seat here to make room for Hon. Robert Rogers, is slated for the public utilities commissionership of Manitoba. The name of W. Sanford Evans has been canvassed in this connection, but while his peculiar ability is recognized, it appears that a lawyer is necessary.

That Dr. Schaffner, M.P., will be shortly appointed to the Senate and W. Staples, M.P., to the new Dominion grain commission, is also reported.

PARLIAMENT WILL BE PROROGUED MONDAY

All Business Likely to Be Disposed of by To-morrow Night

Ottawa, March 29.—Unless something unexpected happens parliament will be prorogued on Monday afternoon. Between now and to-morrow night it is expected that all remaining business can be disposed of. If not, there will still be left a couple of hours on Monday morning, and the closing ceremonies will occur at three o'clock soon after.

On the third reading of the bill giving a subsidy to the Canadian Northern for its line from the coast to the Yellow Head Pass, Hon. Geo. P. Graham moved an amendment which would have had the effect of bringing the railway under the control of the railway board at once. Premier Borden refused to accept the amendment, which was declared lost on division.

On the motion to go into committee of supply Mr. McLean urged upon the government the desirability of establishing a fast Atlantic service. He expressed the view that the time has arrived when action should be taken by the government of Canada.

THE COMBAT opened with long-range rifle fire, but the insurgents forced the rebels to retreat. The rebels had been driven back to the village of Atotonilco, known also as Hills Lopez. On his heels were the columns of Generals Hernandez, Salazar and Campa, numbering 2,500 men or double the strength of the fugitive federals. He was outflanked on both wings and attacked in the rear. The fighting was the most desperate of all engagements fought since the original attack at Escalon last Friday.

DANGEROUS DRIVING.

To the Editor.—I noticed in a recent issue of your paper where Judge Jay threatens to call in motorists who speed more harshly than he has previously. I would like to say a word if you will.

If they want to stop reckless or dangerous driving they should, instead of setting police traps on pieces of open road, where speed harms no one, set a watch upon the corners, and pounce upon those who drive around them recklessly.

For bad cornering is one of the greatest dangers the careful and considerate motorist has to encounter, and what is more, the bad cornering is more prevalent amongst drivers of horse vehicles and cyclists than amongst motorists, and it should be the duty of the police to act without discriminating between the vehicles employed.

We motorists have had the importance of our obligations in regard to other road users in this matter brought before our notice frequently enough, and are, or should be, well aware of what ought to be done, but it is otherwise with other road users, and it requires some official action to bring about their delinquencies home to them.
